REBEL DRIVE TURNED BACK

HENDAYE, French - Spanish Frontier, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Strong Loyalist defense lines today stood off repeated insurgent attacks on the central Catalan front, military dispatches said, but the rebels reported a sudden advance on the northern sector with the capture of the town of Pons.

The armies of Rebel Gen. Francisco Franco began attempting to bring their northern wing up to the line of their advance in the center and south after being turned back by re-established Loyalist defense lines on the Cervera-Igualada highway and on the Tarragona-Barcelona road.

Bitter Battle

The highway running from Cervera to Igualada and thence 30 miles direct to Barcelona is the central dividing line in the Franco offensive and the scene of most severe fighting. Italian and Spanish divisions in this central sector are leading an attack on Igualada, which is defended by large and strongly entrenched Loyalist forces.

Loyalist dispatches reported that rebels turned an intense bombardment by aid and artillery on the defense lines before Igualada but suffered big losses when their infantry sought to advance against Loyalist machine gunners. The infantry was thrown back, the dispatches said.

Counter-Attacks

On the north wing, the insurgents apparently made limited gains and claimed that they had captured Pons. Loyalist dispatches reported their troops were making strong counterattacks in the Pons area but it appeared that the insurgents held the city from which two roads lead to Barcelona by way of Igualada and Solsona, another important Rebel objective in the north.

Loyalist dispatches also reported severe fighting as Rebels moving down from the north and eastward from Cervera attempted to take the town of Panadella, on the Lerida-Igualada highway.

Drive Bogs Down

A drizzling rain interfered with operations in some of the central and northern sectors. The fighting in southeastern Spain appeared to be stalemated. The Republican offensive there slowed down and several Rebel counter attacks were reported repulsed despite the fact the insurgents had rushed a number of Italian tanks to that sector.

Faces Trial For Slaying Infant

FRESNO, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Severo Alvarez, 50, a rancher, today faced trial in superior court on charges of murdering the infant boy born to his unwed daughter.

Alvarez, held in jail here with no bond, was bound over to superior court after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Leroy Avenall of Fowler.

The 50-year-old rancher heard his 14-year-old daughter, Genevieve, accuse him of threatening to kill the baby born to her eldest sister, Miss Josephine Alvarez, 26. Genevieve previously asserted she saw her father strike the infant on the head with his fist because he "didn't want it around."

Production Of Silver Declines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Director John W. Finch of the U. S. bureau of mines reported today that total mine production of recoverable silver in the United States was 61,560,737 fine ounces, valued at $39,796,840 in 1938, a decrease of 15 per cent from 1937.

Finch said that the 1938 production's value was 29 per cent less than the aggregate value of 1937 silver, principally because the standard government price was 64.6 cents per ounce in 1938, compared with 77.3 cents in 1937.

Idaho led the list of silver producing states in 1938, Finch said, with production of $12,024,971. Utah ranked second with $6,225,269. Next in order were Colorado, $5,017,297; Arizona, $4,913,302; Montana, $4,077,118.

Press Time Bulletins

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Anthony Eden's first cousin and two other witnesses—the late Jean Harlow's step-father and Countess Dorothy Di Frasso—appeared before a federal grand jury today to deny they had any mutiny aboard the so-called Hell-Ship Me-tha Nelson on its ill-fated treasure cruise to the South Pacific.

MAINZ, Germany, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Three persons were killed when a military plane crashed in a fog near Ruedesheim today.

DARWIN, Australia, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Three crew members and a passenger were killed today when a New Guinea Airways transport plane crashed into the Katherine river shortly after taking off for Adelaide.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 18.—(UP)—Bart Cavanaugh and F. Reed, campaign workers for former Governor Frank F. Merriam during the last campaign, today were subpoenaed to appear in Oakland Monday for the grand jury investigation of "pardon sale" charges against Superior Judge Mark Lee Megladdery of Alameda county.

Guard Parliament As Police Seek Bombers

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Extraordinary police guards were posted at No. 10 Downing street, the houses of parliament, government departments and foreign embassies today because Scotland Yard received word that Irish extremists planned a long, intensified bombing campaign.

The police guard at No. 10 Downing street, the official residence of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, was heavily reinforced during the early hours of this morning. Policemen were stationed in pairs at intervals of 50 yards throughout the area.

Strengthens Guards

Scotland Yard authorities decided to strengthen the guards at the homes of cabinet members, and to station policemen inside as well as outside government buildings.

Special constables, who constitute a police reserve, were called out to reinforce the regular police force.

Railroad policemen and railroad track maintenance men were warned to watch for attempts to wreck trains.

The police mobilized a special force of radio cars to go to the scene of any bombing attempt, and issued firearms to selected police officers. (In Great Britain policemen on ordinary duty do not carry arms.)

Police authorities were convinced that a series of bombing

FAY WRAY IN MOVE TO GAIN DIVORCE

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Fay Wray, dark-haired screen star, today filed suit for divorce against John Monk Saunders, film writer, charging him with extreme cruelty.

The divorce complaint charged that Saunders "nagged, harassed and tormented his wife and repeatedly requested her to divorce him."

Saunders also was accused of publicly announcing that married life was boring to him and that it restricted the freedom he had as a bachelor.

Hot Temper

The complaint charged that the writer said before friends of the couple that he did not love his wife and did not wish to live with her any longer.

Saunders was alleged to have an ungovernable temper and on many occasions to have caused his wife humiliation when he burst into fits of rage, the complaint said.

During the past year Saunders deserted his wife frequently for long periods of time and when he returned from his mysterious absences, he sulky refused to explain what he had been doing, Miss Wray alleged.

The star set forth that they had community property, but said that she did not know its value or extent.

The couple has one child, Susan Cary Saunders, 2, whose custody Miss Wray seeks.

Oppose Funds For Chaplain

The board of supervisors likes the idea of a chaplain being appointed for religious services in the county jail, but does not like the idea of having the county pay for it.

Sheriff J. L. Elliott, who requested such an appointment by the board, is in better position to carry out such a plan himself and it is all right with the board for him to do so, but county funds will not be used for it, a poll of the board decided yesterday.

Chairman Willard Smith said he believed the sheriff's proposal was too complicated, and had found such opinion shared by ministers. He approved the idea of a jail chaplain, however. "We're not trying to save people's souls," commented Supervisor N. E. West. Supervisor Riley said he opposed spending county funds on a chaplain, though he thought it would be a good idea for the sheriff to work the plan out. Other members agreed.

Youth Cleared In Fatal Shooting

SAN ANDREAS, Cal., Jan. 18.—(UP)—Joe Swinge, 14-year-old son of Sheriff Joe W. Swinge of Amador county, was cleared of blame today in the "dueling" death of Marion Smotherman, 17, on a tragic trapping trip near San Andreas.

A coroner's jury last night returned a verdict of accidental death after young Swinge told how he and his friend were playing dueling. While drawing at each other with .22 target pistols, Swinge's gun accidentally discharged and Smotherman was killed instantly, he told the jury.

Swinge ran to a wedding camp for help while Frank Reid, a third boy on the trapping trip, remained with Smotherman.

SUPERVISORS START PROBE

Inquiry into the official finances of the district attorney's office under former District Attorney W. F. Menton, who was said to have overdrawn his budget for necessary expenses by $798, with another $863 in demands held up by the auditor's office, for incomplete itemizing, was undertaken by the county supervisors late yesterday.

Receiving a request from the new district attorney, George F. Holden, for additional appropriations to funds which the former district attorney had left depleted or overdrawn, the board authorized Supervisor Willis Warner and County Counsel James E. Walker to look into the situation and make a recommendation to the board next Tuesday.

Asks Accounting

Supervisor N. E. West flatly refused to approve an appropriation to cover the $798 "overdraft" of the former district attorney, though willing to provide funds for the present district attorney to carry on. He requested Warner and Walker to bring in a full itemization of the $5000 secret fund and $2000 necessary expense fund with which Menton began the fiscal year last July.

SEEK REMOVAL OF SO. PACIFIC TRACKS

First move toward obtaining the Southern Pacific railroad's cooperation in having its tracks removed from Santa Ana in the northern part of the city where they create a traffic hazard and reduce property values was made yesterday by a committee headed by Councilman Ernest H. Layton.

At the same time, it was pointed out City Atty. Lew Blodgett will seek, before the state railroad commission at meetings in Los Angeles January 24 and March 4, to prevent the removal of the Pacific Electric line unit operating between Santa Ana and Los Angeles. The same committee is interested in both programs but will concentrate on the Southern Pacific track hope leaving most of the details regarding the Pacific Electric line to the city attorney.

Yesterday the committee, composed of Chairman Layton, Councilman William Penn, W. H. Croddy, A. N. Zerman, James Utt, Byron Curry and the city attorney, decided to ask city council to set up the group as an official city commission and to add two members. The committee also outlined reasons for its efforts to have the Southern Pacific tracks removed, as follows: Safety. (Three persons were killed at crossings here last year), unsightly appearance in the north, northwest and northeast parts of the city, property values lowered in the areas, if tracks are not removed, the city might be forced to expend money to help build an underpass and, when South Main extension is completed, additional traffic through the city would increase.

Waitress Battles Youthful Thugs

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 18.—(UP)—Three youths, one of them armed, walked into a Sacramento sandwich shop last night and ordered Mary Douma, 30-year-old waitress to open the cash register.

Mrs. Douma not only refused to open the cash drawer, but grappled with the gunman. Despite threats that he would shoot, the waitress held on and delayed the young bandit's departure until police arrived.

The youths were Charles William Bailey, 17, who said he was from Ohio; Reynold Virgil Modrall, 17, of Tacoma, Wash.; and Bill Rand, 18. They were to be arraigned today.

Former Broker Loses Home

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—(UP)—George Lifcheld, once a senior partner in a Wall Street brokerage firm, now 83, homeless and partially blind, was with his son Frank, 55, in the Bergen street police station today waiting for someone to find them a home.

Until yesterday they had lived in a 10-room, three-story brown house, a decaying family heritage that had been furnished magnificently years ago when the elder Lifcheld was earning $100,000 a year, but which lately had served them only as a shelter from the winter weather.

They were evicted from it by the Home Owners Loan Corporation in a foreclosure for an unpaid $11,676 loan.

ORDER MERRIAM TO TESTIFY IN "PARDON SALE" SCANDAL

Leon de Aryan, San Diego, didn't care for the "World's Fair" appearing on California's 1939 license plates, so with a pair of tin shears he cut out the offending phrase, leaving only "California" and his number.

FRENCH NAVY DISPLAYS POWER IN MANEUVERS AT GIBRALTAR

PARIS, Jan. 18.—(UP)—France's Atlantic and Mediterranean fleets sailed from their bases at Brest and Toulon today for "double action" maneuvers and a display of naval strength in the vicinity of Gibraltar.

At the same time Gen. Maurice Gamelin, chief of staff of the army, and Vice Admiral Francois Darlan, chief of staff of the navy, left Paris to embark at Toulon tonight or tomorrow on a joint inspection tour of French coastal defenses and colonial military establishments in Algeria and Morocco.

Coincidence

The government denies that there is any intention to make a deliberate display of strength in view of Italy's claims for concessions in the Mediterranean. That the joint navy-army activities will

JEWS IN PALESTINE SEEK TO ADOPT 5000 GERMAN REFUGEES

JERUSALEM, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Many Palestine Jews protesting immigration restrictions on refugees from anti-semitic Germany, are joining in a unique system of adopting the children of Jewish families fleeing from the reich.

The protest movement includes pressure on the Jewish agency to boycott the forthcoming round table conference of Jews, British officials and Arabs at London because the British colonial secretary refused entry of 5000 refugee children on the grounds that Arab resentment might prejudice the conference.

To Adopt 5000

A Jewish "adoption committee" has been formed to adopt 5000 children and place them with families already established in Palestine. This has been possible because of the procession of refugees through the ports of Palestine, Egypt and Syria.

An example of how the adoption committee is working was given with the arrival of a ship carrying refugees, mostly children, to Australia. The ship was met at every port of call in Palestine by representatives of the committee. Families went aboard and adopted children almost on sight. The decrees of adoption previously had been completed in every detail except filling in the

U. S. Defense Bill Backed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, told the House military affairs committee today that defense of the United States requires new air bases in Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Alaska, and two in continental United States.

Arnold appeared before the house committee in the second day of consideration by both house and senate military affairs committee of President Roosevelt's $552,000,000 emergency national defense bill.

Urges Speed

Arnold said construction of the five bases, provision of 3000 new planes and training of personnel to man the expanded forces should be undertaken without delay. He said the proposed new bases should be occupied within two years.

He said this program would constitute "a well balanced program to defend the continental United States."

Chairman Andrew Jackson May.

OFFICIAL BALKS AT WPA BUILDING COST

Soaring costs of a recreational building under construction by WPA for Olive school district, today caused County Superintendent Ray Adkinson to apply brakes to the program, but it will proceed on a curtailed plan to make the structure available for use, he announced today, after a conference with representatives of WPA and the school district.

The $8000 bond issue voted by the district to finance its share of the $60,000 project, already had been expended and a total of $18,500 spent when Adkinson stepped into the picture. Following the conference, he stated that ways and means had been reached for continuing the unfinished building operations, the building to be made ready for recreational uses. The project will be left in such shape that additions may be made to the structure later, he explained.

The county supervisors late yesterday refused to transfer county funds to Olive and three other school districts, an aggregate of $15,900 in requests being denied. These included $10,000 for Laguna unified district, $4000 for Garden Grove high school district, $1500 for Olive and $400 for Peralta.

Fullerton Board Elects New Mayor

H. H. Kohlenberger, engineer, and owner of the Kohlenberger Refrigerator company, last night was elected as presiding officer of the Fullerton city council, and mayor of Fullerton, succeeding T. K. Gowen, who resigned. Taking the place of Kohlenberger on the council is William Montague, orange grower and business man of Fullerton.

Silver Price Conclave Called

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 18.—(UP)—Gov. E. P. Carville today invited chief executives of 10 other western states to meet in Reno to plan united action to stabilize the price of silver.

Carville said he hoped the conference could be held next month.

"Silver mining is of great direct and indirect interest to all the western states," he declared, pointing out that the 64.6 cent treasury price for domestic silver set by President Roosevelt's recent proclamation expires at midnight, June 30. The administration's authorization to purchase silver also expires June 30.

Bourbon Leads In Senate Race

REDDING, Cal., Jan. 18.—(UP)—Jesse W. Carter, Democrat, held an apparently safe lead today over William B. Menzel, Republican, in the fifth state senatorial district special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator John B. McColl, Republican.

Returns from 49 of 71 precincts gave Carter 3076 votes to 2346 for Menzel. The returns were from 18 of 19 precincts in Trinity county and 31 or 52 precincts in Shasta county.

Two other Republican candidates, Dr. Ernest Dozier and R. J. Anderson jr., trailed far behind.

GROUP OKES HOPKINS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(UP)—The Senate commerce committee today approved the nomination of Harry L. Hopkins to be secretary of commerce and sent his name to the Senate floor for debate and a final vote on confirmation.

Senate leaders will call up the issue of Hopkins' confirmation tomorrow. Sharp debate was anticipated, but opponents of the former works progress administrator conceded he probably will be confirmed.

GRAND JURY PROBES CASE

OAKLAND, Jan. 18.—(UP)—District Attorney Ralph Hoyt today said former Governor Frank F. Merriam had been subpoenaed to appear before the Alameda county grand jury next Monday morning in the investigation of charges of pardon sales by his former secretary, Mark Lee Megladdery, jr.

Hoyt said Merriam had been served with the subpoena last night near Long Beach by an agent of the attorney general's office in Los Angeles.

Special Session

Megladdery was appointed to the superior bench of Alameda county as one of Merriam's last acts before leaving office but his fellow judges have refused to assign him cases until the charges of a pardon sales racket are cleared up.

Attorney General Earl Warren, former district attorney of Alameda county, is cooperating with Hoyt in the grand jury inquiry. The jury will convene tomorrow in special session to review the Megladdery case.

30 Witnesses

Authorities indicated at least 30 witnesses, including a mysterious red haired woman known as Mrs. Helen Devine, and as Helen Taylor, would be asked to give testimony.

Megladdery, Edwin Geary, Oakland attorney named with him in charges of an asserted bribery in the Clarence A. (Chick) Leddy case, and Mrs. Devine were served with subpoenas. Other subpoenas were being served on 27 others, unnamed by officials.

The original charges involving Megladdery and Geary concerned the payment of $1250 in what two members of the state board of prison terms and paroles said was an attempt to receive executive clemency for Leddy, paroled San Jose roadhouse slayer.

Deny Charges

Both Megladdery and Geary denied wrongdoing in the case. Megladdery said he accepted $500 of the money as a legitimate campaign contribution for Merriam. Geary said he took only $250 as his legal fee in the case.

Entrance of Mrs. Devine in the case presaged what prosecution authorities said might be new developments.

Radio Actors Threaten Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—(UP)—The first strike vote involving sponsors of commercial radio programs was scheduled today by the New York chapter of the American Federation of Radio Artists.

Seeking contracts with advertising agencies which stage radio shows, the federation and its affiliated chapters will determine within the next few days whether to strike. The Chicago chapter meets Friday night, the Los Angeles chapter Saturday night and the San Francisco chapter Sunday night.

Support of the threatened strike has been obtained from every field of entertainment, according to Paul Dultzell, executive secretary of the Associated Actors and Artists of America, American Federation of Labor affiliate covering all performers.

Seek To Settle Water Dispute

FRESNO, Jan. 18.—(UP)—Officials of the Fresno irrigation district indicated today they were ready to agree upon a "suitable" settlement of water rights with the federal reclamation commission in connection with the proposed Friant dam unit of the Central Valley water project.

L. B. Hayhurst, counsel for the district, said officials of the irrigation unit were planning to meet with R. B. Williams, assistant federal reclamation commissioner, for settlement in the near future.

WOMAN HUNTED IN $100 FRAUD

A dark-eyed brunette woman about 32 years old was sought today by Southern California police after she cashed two stolen $50 American Express company money orders in Orange county yesterday afternoon.

The woman visited the J. C. Penney company store in Anaheim about 4:30 p. m. yesterday, passed the check to Clerk Ernest Rigdon, left and a half hour later passed a similar check at a Santa Ana store, according to Detective Lieutenant Charles W. Wolford of Santa Ana.

Clue Falls Police
Rigdon, suspicion of the woman after accepting the check, followed her to a parking lot in Anaheim and obtained the license number of an automobile which left the park soon afterward.

However, Officer Wolford and Chief James S. Bouldin of Anaheim police, exonerated the car driver this morning. The parking lot has four entrances and exits and apparently the woman wanted left without being seen by Rigdon.

The money orders, stolen at a branch office of the express company in the Padre drug store, Los Angeles, were made out to Dorothy G. Spake. The woman wanted is described as having dark eyes and hair, weighing about 135 pounds and being five feet, three inches tall. She wore dark blue dress, black coat and hat. She carries a Texas driver's license.

The crime here was discovered when the local store operator went to an address given by the woman and discovered it to be fictitious.

City, County News In Brief

Two cars and a garage were destroyed by fire shortly after midnight between Yorba Linda and Olive on Jefferson street, according to a report at the office of Joe Scherman, of the state fire department at Orange. Loss estimated at $275. The garage was the property of John Walters and the cars of C. C. Meyers, occupant of the home.

In celebration of the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, for whom the school was named, Mabel Fleming and Junior Mason, sixth grade pupils, gave readings about the life of the American statesman. Hostesses for the day included Mesdames Goldie Burks, Helen Eeley, and Jeanette Sterling.

Plays Take Place Of Examinations

Something new in the field of final examination appeared at Santa Ana Junior college last night, when Instructor Ernest Crozier Phillips of the jaycee drama department saw his last test of the semester acted out on the stage at the high school little theater.

Discarding the usual procedure of a final written quiz, Phillips decided early in the year that his play production students would direct and act in any of several one-act dramas and comedies without his assistance to fulfill the concluding ritual of the course.

Those showing the most promise in final rehearsals, he said, will present their productions to friends and guests Thursday night.

DRINK LEADS TO QUIZ

Arrested on a drunk charge yesterday afternoon at Main and Santiago park by Officers F. L. Grouard and Herman Stahl, J. Conrad Patty, 22, Santa Ana, today faced a more serious charge. Through police teletype communication, it was learned Brea authorities want Patty for alleged defrauding of an innkeeper. Herman Zabel, head of the sheriff's office fingerprint bureau, checked fingerprints and identified Patty as the man wanted in Brea.

ITINERANT TELLS ABOUT KIN, THEN DIES OF HEART ATTACK

The body of an unidentified itinerant man who declared before his death that he had a sister and a brother living in Bellflower was found early today in a hobo camp near Placentia-Yorba boulevard, half a mile southeast of Atwood. The man died last night, apparently from a heart attack.

According to William P. Jones, another itinerant at the camp, who found the body this morning, the man failed to identify himself but did mention the sister and brother. An investigation is being made by Deputy Coroner Bert Casteix and Officers Herman Zabel and Tom Murphine of the sheriff's office.

Description Given
The man is described as being 50 to 55 years old, about five feet, 10 inches tall, wearing overalls and having a blanket roll. He has black hair, turning grey; badly broken nose from an old injury; tattoo on the inner right forearm a heart with arrow and bearing the initials "R. S." Beneath the heart is a tattoo mark of a hand-shake while an indistinguishable tattoo appears to be on the outer left forearm and a mole appears beneath the left shoulder-blade. The body was removed to the McCullay and Suters funeral chapel, Fullerton, where an attempt to identify it is being made.

PARALYSIS DRIVE UNDER WAY TODAY

Sale of buttons in the campaign to raise funds here to combat infantile paralysis is actively underway today, with the belief expressed by Curtis S. Burrow, chairman of the drive in Santa Ana, that over $500 would be raised.

The campaign will last for 17 days. Half of the funds raised here will be sent to the national headquarters, with the remainder being used in Southern California in the war against the disease. Distribution of the Southland fund will be by a committee made up of a representative from each of the 10 southern cities.

Groups Aid Drive

Groups aiding the drive here include the Junior Eebl club, Job's Daughters and others. Burrow revealed that plans are being considered by leaders in the Southland drive for the establishment of a center for the manufacture and adjustment of braces and also for an institute where victims of paralysis could be rehabilitated.

Coyote Hunters Go "Streamlined"

LITCHFIELD, Ariz., Jan. 18. (UP)—Old time western hunters were amazed at the tactics of a group of eastern industrialists and financiers who cruised over the desert in a blimp to shoot coyotes. The blimp skimmed low over the ground, giving the hunters a chance to lean from the cabin window and open fire at the running animals.

Success of the hunting was attested by five coyotes that were picked up by a ground crew.

Mueller succeeds Floyd Watson as president of the group which has members from Santa Ana, Orange and Tustin.

Dan Gelderman was installed first vice president, E. T. Watson, second vice president, Floyd Watson, secretary, and Frank Nuslein, treasurer. Board members are E. C. Conger, Alfred F. Schroeder, Jesse F. Campbell, Carl A. Pister, Earl B. Workman, Elmer Yordy and Charles E. Fenton.

Speaker of the evening was K. E. Watson who gave an interesting account of a recent cruise around the world, speaking especially of Japan. E. C. Conger was program chairman and Joe Kozina, former Orpheum artist, played banjo numbers. About 120 were present and announcement was made that last year membership increased from 60 to the present number, 160. Jesse F. ## PROTECTION OF LAND IS AIM OF BILL BACKED BY BUREAU

Designed to prevent trespassing of private lands during labor and other troubles, a bill amending section 602 of the Penal Code has been forwarded to Senator Harry Westover by the Orange County Farm Bureau, with the California Farm Bureau federation as sponsor.

The proposal would forbid entrance into cultivated or land enclosed by fence without written permission from the owner of the lands or his agent, C. J. Marks, executive secretary, said today.

Two Other Bills
During labor strife in Orange county a few years ago, private lands were invaded by certain groups, Marks said. Under the proposed bill, trespassing would be a misdemeanor.

Two bills were sent to Assemblyman Clyde Watson, a member of the agricultural committee, by the farm bureau. One of these reduces from $25 to $5 the minimum tax on business trusts. The other reduces from $25 to $9 the minimum franchise tax on banks and corporations. The chief purpose of this act, according to the farm bureau, as the sponsor, is to reduce the cost to hundreds of small corporations and trusts formed by farmers as a part of their farm operations. The amount designated covers the cost of operation of the act and its administration. General funds would still benefit, it is stated, from the larger than minimum fees collected from most of the corporations and trusts.

TO REBUILD CHANNEL
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 18. (UP)—The city of Fresno will receive $12,000 for repairs and rehabilitation of the channel and banks of Dry Creek from the $5,000,000 emergency flood relief appropriation voted at the March, 1938, special legislative session, Director of Public Works Frank W. Clark announced today. The stream overflowed during last winter's floods, doing considerable property damage.

BOYS NABBED IN 3 BURGLARIES

Burglary of two service stations and a home in Garden Grove were cleared up today by Sheriff Jesse L. Elliott and his men with the arrest of two Garden Grove boys, 13 and 15 years old, respectively.

The places burglarized include the Rio Grande service station, Stanford and Euclid; Verano service station, Verano road and Garden Grove boulevard, and the home of Lawrence Bond, 309 North Pine, all in Garden Grove, according to purported confessions by juvenile authorities. One of the boys previously served a three-months' term in the detention home, according to records.

On the Verano service station job, the boys, according to the confession, poked the key to the office out of the door and "fished" it from inside of the office to the outside, then obtained 65 pennies; at the other service station, the boys pried open the door, broke a cigarette machine and obtained $6.70 and several packages of cigarettes; at the Bond home, the boys removed a window screen, entered and stole 165 pennies after ransacking the house while Bond was absent. The alleged crimes were committed during the past week.

Out of Windows
The confessions indicated the boys were in the habit of pretending to go to bed early, then climb-

Sheriff Elliott's investigation indicated the boys, students of boxing, have a tremendous amount of energy which was permitted to get into wrong "channels." The boys may easily be rehabilitated, according to present belief of authorities, if energies of the boys be directed properly.

Aims Of Y. M. Discussed As New Directors Are Elected For Year

New directors were elected and the year's activities outlined at the annual meeting of the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A. last night. Named were Frank A. Henderson, Ernest H. Layton, John Lutz, Arlyn Robertson and Gerald Bash. R. Carson Smith was chairman of the nominating committee.

The evening's program was unique in local Y.M.C.A. history in that it was handled in typical Toastmasters club style, and for the greater part by active members of Toastmasters clubs.

Recalls Organization

In opening the meeting, President Glenn Tidball called attention to the fact it was just 14 years and three months ago that the No. 1 Toastmaster club was organized in the same dining room in which last night's meeting was held and that the movement has spread from Santa Ana throughout the United States and into foreign lands.

Speaking on "The Y.M.C.A. in the Community," the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, declared that "The Y.M.C.A. is in Santa Ana because the citizens of this community invited it here, to manage out community center and to serve our city."

Lauds Service of "Y"

The Rev. Mr. Schrock dealt with the history of the local Y, recalling circumstances which were either long forgotten or unknown to most of the audience. "The Y.M.C.A. has served faithfully," said the speaker. "I am proud of the record it has made and the service it has given."

E. H. Layton, treasurer of the Y.M.C.A., gave an exhaustive report of the finances, showing that in spite of unexpectedly heavy demands for free service and for repairs to the building, the work has been operated on the established budget basis, with continuous reduction of the debt on the building, and that the year ended with a deficit of less than $500. Musical numbers were given by Alan Mendenhall, assistant secretary, accompanied by Herbert Thomas, boys' work secretary.

Christian Principles

Carson Smith was presented as toastmaster of the evening. Warren O. Mendenhall pointed out, in speaking of "The Spirit of the Y," that this organization is distinctive in its definitely Christian principle and in its emphasis on Bible study and religious education.

Boys' work was presented by Leon Lauderbach, veteran group leader, who spoke of the nearly 30 organized groups of boys conducted by the Y, with a total of more than 1000 meetings during the year, and with a total attendance of more than 13,000 at these meetings. "The Y Way to Health" was a topic which gave Dr. Mark Dalton an opportunity to discuss the modern ailment of "tiredness" which can be cured, he said, by play and recreational exercise, such as the Y provides its physical program.

Joseph Frias, speaking of the problems of the Mexican people, called attention to the fact that they are struggling against a background of ignorance and oppression which makes their situation most difficult. He spoke of the nearly 150 Mexican boys and young men who are organized in the Mexican Progressive Youth clubs of the Y.M.C.A.

A. G. Green, acting as "general critic," brought the meeting to a close with humorous and keen remarks on the speakers and their talks.

Many car manufacturers recommend the addition of a pint of kerosene to five quarts of oil (10 per cent), for use in below-zero temperatures, even when using very light winter oils.

SANTA ANA BECOMES "RAILROAD CENTER" AS GROUP ORGANIZES

Santa Ana had become a "railroad center" today. A group of 14 scale-model railroad builders this week organized the Orange County Scale Model Railroad club at a meeting in the Howard Taylor Wholesale Radio store, 116 S. Sycamore.

They named Fred Schrock president and A. J. Fickas of Newport Beach, secretary. Scale-model railroad building is the fastest-growing hobby in the United States, Schrock explained today. There are 60,000 fans in the country and 3500 of them are in Los Angeles and vicinity. Each locomotive or car is built exactly to scale and is the prototype of a standard size unit in actual use on a commercial railroad line.

The local club will specialize in making prototypes of western locomotives. The hobby is one which long ago left the toy train stage and has long been on a high scientific and mechanical plane.

In the near future the club plans to rent its own quarters and set up a track layout available to all members. Each member will have his own siding from which he can switch his trains onto the main line. In addition there will be backgrounds of typical scenery for a railroad line.

The main line will be about 10 scale miles in length. Thirteen inches equals about 100 scale feet. The local club will use the HO gauge track.

Until the layout is completed, the club meetings will feature track construction. The next meeting will be on January 30. Meetings will be held on each Monday night thereafter. Ten additional members are expected to join in the near future.

Term Of Burmah Adams White May Be Reduced

That Burmah Adams White, the Santa Ana girl who became wife and gun moll to a Los Angeles gangster who was felled by the guns of police several years ago, may receive a reduction of her 30-year sentence to Tehachapi prison, was intimated today when Attorney General Earl Warren ruled that prison boards have the right to redetermine sentences.

His ruling was made in reply to a question from Emily Latham, of Los Angeles, secretary to the Tehachapi prison board, whether the board had authority to reduce Burmah White's sentence. She was sent to prison as an accomplice of her slain husband, the pair being cornered following a burglary in a Los Angeles building, where White shot it out with the police.

Warren's ruling stated that prison boards have authority, under a 1935 amendment, to not only determine but to redetermine sentences and that Burmah White's 30-year sentence might be reduced to not more than 10 years.

Those planning to go on the West Coast Mineral society overnight field trip Saturday are asked to go to the home of Arthur C. Terrill, 116 East Whiting avenue, Fullerton, at 8 a. m. Saturday when the group will leave for Riverside and San Bernardino.

Arrangements were made by Terrill and Charles H. Knowlton, in charge of the tour, to visit Jensen quarry of the Riverside Cement company, Saturday morning, and at the home of E. J. Bryan to see his fine mineral collection, in the afternoon. Saturday night, a camping spot will be located and the party will camp out.

Plans Convention At 9:30 a. m. Sunday, the group will go to the California hotel at San Bernardino with representatives from 15 other societies throughout the state to set up plans for the fourth annual convention of the California Federation of Mineral societies to be held at San Bernardino valley junior college April 15 and 16.

Ernest Chapman, former president of the oldest mineral society in the Southland, the Southern California Mineralogical society having a membership of 220, will be in charge of Sunday's program, and while only delegates to the convention will be allowed to vote on the recommendations made for the April meetings, those attending from Orange county in the field party will sit in as advisors. The Orange county group will send an exhibit to the April convention.

60 MUSICIANS SET FOR S. A. CONCERT

With the merging of the Santa Ana and Long Beach Federal Music Projects, the concert by the combined orchestras, Thursday evening, January 26, at the high school auditorium, will be participated in by 60 musicians under the baton of Elwood Bear, concert-master of the Santa Ana unit, Supervisor Leon Eckles today announced.

The program's introductory number, the overture to the fantastic Russian opera, "Russian and Ludmila," by Glinka (regarded by many musical authorities as the most mature expression of this composer's inspirations), answers, said Eckles, the never-ending appeal from concert patrons for Russian music.

For the program feature the orchestra will perform the rapidly-paced and hauntingly melodious "Rustic Wedding" symphony by Goldmark. The charming score was first performed with great success in Vienna in 1876. Volkman's "Serenade," which follows, will center attention upon Edwin Geber who will play the beautiful "cello solo part of this composition.

Climaxing the program is that loveliest of musical seascapes, the overture to "The Flying Dutchman," by Wagner.

Discoverer Of Deadly Elixir Victim Of Bullet

BRISTOL, Tenn., Jan. 18.—(UP) A coroner's verdict was reserved today in the death of Harold Cole Watkins, chemist, who prepared the formula for Elixir of sulfanilamide which was blamed for the deaths of 67 persons in 1937.

Watkins, 58, was found dead of a bullet wound through the heart at his home. His wife insisted he was killed by the accidental discharge of a pistol he had been cleaning.

Police Officers King Pyle and Dennis Sprager reported Watkins had died of a "self-inflicted" wound.

Watkins, a native of Scranton, Pa., prepared the Elixir formula for S. E. Masengill Co. here in 1937. Deaths in various parts of the country were attributed to effects of the preparation by the American Medical Association.

Bar Group Urges Criminal Code For Segregation Of Morons

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 18.—(UP)—The Cleveland Bar Association is proposing legislation which would be to segregate in separate institutions defective delinquents who commit felonies and misdemeanors or even more serious crimes.

The association feels that a class of "defective delinquents" should be recognized for separate handling, and will sponsor legislation on the proposal before the Ohio legislature.

Bar spokesmen said they believed that if such a measure were approved it would have far-reaching effects in states other than Ohio which operate under similar penal codes.

Ohio today recognizes only two classes of offenders, as far as imposition of sentences is concerned. A criminal either is adjudged insane and committed to a state hospital for treatment or is considered normal legally and sentenced to a penal institution for punishment.

Medical Views Stressed The bar cites the work of psychiatrists, who point out that the so-called normal classification often includes offenders who, although normal according to law, are defective in the medical sense. In this group would fall morons, idiots and imbeciles—of feeble-minded classification—as with Joe Ardry, the 22-year-old youth who was executed in Colorado.

Ardry was born an idiot, feeble minded, but suffered the punishment of a mentally-normal individual.

The purpose of the legislation would be to segregate in separate institutions defective delinquents who commit felonies and misdemeanors or even more serious crimes.

According to the legislation's provisions, a prisoner found mentally defective or feeble-minded, not insane, would be committed to a special institution for an indefinite period.

He would be released only after he had responded in such manner that he could be considered a good behavior risk. If such an offender did not respond fully, it would be possible for him to remain institutionalized the rest of his life.

Psychiatrists have estimated that 30 to 50 per cent of the inmates of Ohio penal institutions today either are feeble-minded or have a mental disease. Records of common pleas court show the convicted felons, examined by the scope of the problem. Of 3,197 clinic 42.3 per cent were classed medically as normal, 55.9 per cent as defective delinquents and 1.8 as insane.

Several organizations, including the League of Women Voters of Ohio, the Cleveland Welfare Federation, the Cleveland Academy of Medicine, Cleveland Federation of Women's clubs and the Cleveland Crime commission, have approved the proposal.

GILMORE ECONOMY RUN FIGHTS WEATHER

Chrysler Takes Trophy

Battling through blizzards and treacherous mountain passes, Ray Schafer, driver of the Chrysler Royal is shown in the picture above as he drove his car to the silver first place trophy for his win in Class E in the annual Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run.

Stingy Drivers Struggle Through Blizzard In Gilmore Run

Over storm-swept valley roads and ice-covered mountain grades went the 16 stock cars that averaged 21.9 miles per gallon of Red Lion Gasoline in the 1939 Gilmore-Yosemite Run. Top and left in the picture above are the winning drivers of the Willys-Overland, Oldsmobile 60, Nash Lafayette, Chrysler, Studebaker Commander, Studebaker President, and Lincoln Zephyr, with Earl B. Gilmore and Clarence S. Beesemeyer of the Gilmore Oil Company. The upper right shows the Oldsmobile 60 navigating an icy grade; lower right, drivers struggle with skid chains; lower left, Studebaker Commander picks its way.

Battling ice-coated highways, fog, sleet, driving rain and blizzards on mountain roads, 16 of the 29 cars entered in the Gilmore-Yosemite Run fought their way over the 314.5 miles between Los Angeles and Yosemite National Park last week to finish America's stock car classic within the rigid time limit set by American Automobile Association Contest Board officials.

It was a severe, heart-breaking, gallon of Red Lion gasoline and run for some of the cars; a desperate, hard-fought test ending in triumph for others, and for all the cars an event that tested the skill of the drivers and the performance ability of the motors to the limit.

Gruelling Test

The 1939 Gilmore event, which was by far the most gruelling in the history of this famous stingy drivers test, saw a new sweepstakes champion when A. A. A. officials announced that a Studebaker Commander, driven by William C. Martin had topped all other cars, whether they finished in time or not, with a ton-mile average of 55.87 miles per

Winners Cited

Despite the heavy demands made on the motors, A. A. A. technical check-up at the finish showed that none of the cars had consumed an appreciable quantity of Lion Head Motor Oil.

First place honors in price class "A" were grabbed by Bennett Hill and his stream-lined Overland with a ton-mile average of 42.72 and an actual average of 26.21 miles per gallon.

In class "C", John C. Bodine was apparently driving a "merry" Oldsmobile for the check-up at the finish line revealed him in first place in this price classification with a ton mile average of 43.76 and an actual mileage record of 21.40 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Nash Lafayette captured highest honors in Class "D" with Andy Henderson getting 21.25 actual miles and 47.38 ton miles with the swanky model.

Ray E. Schafer, sweepstakes winner, brought his Chrysler over the mountain route with a ton mile average of 42.80 and an actual average of 20.03 miles per gallon of Red Lion to take the Class "E" first award.

The sweepstakes winning Studebaker naturally was awarded first place in its own price division, Class "F", and the Studebaker President came very close to the remarkable record made by the Commander when it averaged 52.91 ton miles per gallon and 22.96 actual miles per gallon to win the first place trophy in Class "F" and third place sweepstakes honors, J. E. Van Sant was the driver.

L. P. Butts, a veteran Gilmore-Yosemite Run driver, brought a Packard 120 in with an average of 52.96 ton miles per gallon and 21.84 actual miles per gallon to take first honors in Class "I" and second place sweepstakes laurels.

Lincoln-Zephyr, with George W. Magee at the wheel, made a ton mile average of 47.49 and an actual mileage of 19.66 to take first honors in Class "J" in spite of the handicaps on mileage imposed by the use of chains.

Impounding Period
Winners of the sweepstakes honors as well as victors in the various price classes were adjudged by A. A. A. officials on the ton mile basis in order to take into consideration the weight of each car and the weight of the passengers and baggage each carried. Ton miles are computed by multiplying the weight of the car in tons by the distance travelled and dividing by the total number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

There are 164 postwomen in England.

HUGE CROWD SEES END OF TEST RUN

The biggest crowd in the history of the Gilmore-Yosemite Economy run was on hand at the finish to witness the arrival of the cars and take part in the festivities that had been planned for the drivers and observers. More than 500 people attended the dinner in Park.

the luxurious Ahwahnee hotel. Later in the evening, during the dancing in the lounge, newsmen from all parts of the Pacific coast presented a series of dramatic skits in competition for the traditional "Fourth Estate Dramatic Trophy." The Bay City group, with its rendition of the story of "Ferdinand," was judged winner.

Three hundred fifty miles of thrilling and gruelling roads were covered in the annual Gilmore run from Los Angeles to Yosemite.

First place in the sweepstakes award for the Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run goes to a Studebaker Commander "6" sedan. Third place in the sweepstakes was won by a President "8" sedan. Actual miles per gallon, as officially recorded by A. A. A., was 25.7 for the Commander and 22.9 for the President, each first in its price class.

The important fact for all motorists to realize is that the Commander actually used less gasoline than any other six-cylinder car in the run—and of course, less than any "eight" or "twelve."

Every car in America's stock car classic had an official representing a competing make observing its driver. No coasting was allowed. And added to such rigid rules, Red Lion had to battle the elements every mile between Los Angeles and Yosemite. Skid chains and low gears had to be used on icy grades. ## TEST RUN WON BY STUDEBAKER

"A winner four times with only two entries." This was the laconic report of the success of Studebaker cars in the recent Gilmore-Yosemite Economy run from Los Angeles to Yosemite Park made today by Robert Mandic, of Mandic and Steiner, local Studebaker dealers.

The Studebaker Commander six won the first-place award in the sweepstakes. It also took the trophy for first place in its class. The President eight also captured first place in its class and third place in the sweepstakes.

Winning Mileage
The Commander delivered 25.7 miles to the gallon to win the championship while the President averaged 22.9 miles to the gallon over the storm-swept 314.5 mile course.

In fairness to all contestants positions were figured on the ton-mile basis which compensates for weight differentials. The Studebaker Commander's 55.8 ton miles per gallon was the best performance and won the major award," declared Mandic, who pointed out that in making 25.7 miles to the gallon the Commander actually turned in more miles per gallon and consumed less gasoline than any other entry regardless of size or weight.

Graham Has Few Lubrication Spots

Examination of the charts published by various oil companies to aid their service station men in properly lubricating all makes of cars reveals an interesting fact in connection with Graham engineering, according to Bill Williamson, local Graham dealer.

"In my service department," he says, "we lubricate all makes of cars and in order to do the job properly, we have to use a series of charts showing the spots requiring various kinds of lubricants on each make and year model of car on the road.

"There are only 21 places on a Graham where lubrication is required, while some models of other makes have as many as 38 points where grease or oil is needed.

"The more places that require lubrication," Williamson points out, "the more places where friction is occurring. It is a Graham principle of construction to keep the design as simple as possible so that there will be less likelihood of serious consequences if an owner should neglect to have his car serviced, or permit this work to be done by someone who doesn't use a chart for a guide."

Studebaker Wins Sweepstakes

MOTOR TESTING MACHINE HERE

For the rest of this week, Cliff's Service Station, 1248 West First street, will have, through the cooperation of the Sunset Oil Co. and Ethyl Corporation, the latest automotive dynamometer for free testing of motors.

This factory laboratory testing equipment will remain at this location through Saturday. The dynamometer is one of two of this type of machines on the Pacific coast. Its purpose is to demonstrate to motorists the actual condition of their cars, operating under road conditions. The various instruments, give an accurate reading of horsepower, fuel consumption, torque pull and all other conditions of the car's performance under actual load and operating conditions.

There is no charge for the tests and motorists interested are requested to make appointments. The complete test will require about 30 minutes.

LINCOLN ZEPHYR IS WINNER IN CLASS J

Overcoming some of the most severe obstacles of weather and road ever encountered in the long history of the Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run, the Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 strictly stock model sedan won the class J trophy with a mark of 47.195 ton miles per gallon of gasoline and an actual gasoline mileage of 19.656 per gallon, George Dunton, local Lincoln-Zephyr distributor, announced today.

Driving rain of hurricane velocity, fog, hail, sleet, snow, ice and a variety of road hazards combined to work against the car's superlative performance on the 314.5 mile route from approximate sea level at Los Angeles to more than 5000 feet altitude in two points in the Sierra Nevada mountains before culmination at the national park. The final 75 miles of the trip had to be negotiated with chains at the ruling of the A.A.A. supervisors to avoid the potential danger of ice-covered roads on high precipices. Time limit for the run was eleven hours, a condition that the Lincoln-Zephyr met handsly.

In addition, to being a demonstration of fuel economy, the run this year offered a most exacting test of car stamina. The start was made at 5 a. m. in a drizzling rain which rapidly grew into a downpour going through Hollywood hills. Passing over the Ridge Route into the San Joaquin Valley, heavy fog made the road treacherous with moisture. In the valley a rain storm came in from the Pacific with a 50-mile an hour velocity and added wind to the obstacles.

Where did you ever get ... by waiting?

IT may be, of course, that you haven't tried this Buick beauty.

It may be you haven't eased it the gas, and felt it settle down, all staunch and steady and solid beneath you, to the joyful task of speeding your going!

It may be you haven't looked out through these wider windows—haven't known the featherbed comfort of soft, BuicOil Springing—haven't felt the blessed security of handling that's sure, even when streets are slick!

But the very look of this Buick traveler ought to tell you—

it's too good to wait for!

Not to have it now is to miss a lot of fun that this great and able Dynafash eight can bring you. You're missing miles of pleasurable comfort—and skid-dodging safety as well.

You lose something by waiting, too, in the trade-in value of your present car—which is obviously worth less with each week's added mileage.

This up-and-at-'em performer doesn't wait when you want it to go—so, why should you wait to get it going?

THE PERSONAL COLUMN

If that high school coaching berth becomes a free-for-all, Larry Lutz might be a good long-shot. The former All-America tackle, now one of "Stub" Allison's assistants at California, wouldn't mind stepping out on his own. . . . Aye, mon, and it isn't to sing Scotch songs that Bob Brown goes to Loyola stadium every Sunday but to watch soccer. Usually Bob is accompanied by one or more of his lads or lassies—Matthew, Robert Jr. or Rosemary—all ardent fans. Brown views the games with a critical eye since he learned the finer points in his native Scotland. . . .

C. W. (Pop) Hill is looking forward to a long practice session with the new woods donated by son Clyde Hill. Seems the elder Hill, who had a perennial slice developed a terrific hook with the new sticks. . . . George H. Johnson, who brings the House of David basketball team here tonight to play Santa Ana jay-see at Tustin, has umpired in the American association for 25 years. He is rated as one of the best in the business. Several times Johnson could have "gone up" but he always elected to stay in the association because of a lifetime friendship for the president of the league. . . . He is a brother of Santa Ana's Ernie Johnson, coast scout for the Boston Red Sox. . . .

One of Orr Schuchardt's favorites is the story they tell about Louie Neva Novikoff when the big Russian softballer was waving between mid-season offers from two San Joaquin Valley clubs. Seems Neva had promised one manager but the other arrived almost simultaneously with a much better proposition. The two managers argued and argued. Louie turned to his wife; they carried on an animated discussion in Russian. She thought he should make good on his promise even though the bid was low. Finally Louie turned back to the managers, shrugged, said in a submissive voice: "My wife, she say I sign with you," and pointed to the manager with the better offer. . . . Incidentally, Neva has been promised a thorough trial with Los Angeles this spring, may not be sentenced to Birmingham after all. . . .

Glendale jaysee wants a game with Santa Ana in the Bowl Nov. 14. Gil Kuhn, the Placencia songbird who made good in a large way at S. C., coaches Glendale. Bill Cook of the Dons has dispatched letters to San Francisco, Santa Rosa and Salinas jaysees, suggesting home-and-home series with one of the Northern teams and starting in the north Nov. 24. If these contacts fail, chances are the Glendale contest will be signed.

HAIL OUR MAT AS NEW STAR OF 3-YR. OLDS

BY TOM GWYNNE
(Register Track Correspondent)

Clear the decks for a new 3-year-old star. Unsung, unheralded, a "stooge" for El Chico last summer, Our Mat today blazes across the Santa Anita winter racing front as a colt to reckon with—a possible champion, and at least, a whirlwind sprinter.

Striding through the stretch with a rhythmic, smooth-flowing action, he yesterday handled Time Alone (who beat good ones in the East) like he was a third rater, beating him by a length-and-a-quarter, going away, with the clever filly, Clencia, third. The time was 1:10 2/5.

Our Mat wasn't considered

TODAY'S SELECTIONS

1—Bon Fly, Shortbread, Palladium.

2—Sweet Lelani, Kindergarten, Teddy's Girl.

3—Bubbling Boy, Naseberry, Ed.

4—Bartolozzi, Arcadia, Jaleo.

5—Lynbilly, Osculate, Homeburning.

6—Open Door, Pompa, Dressy.

good enough to nominate for the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, but you can look for him to be among those named for the Kentucky Derby, which has a February closing. He acts like a good colt, and his splendid action—a prime requisite for a real top liner—makes him appear as an excellent distance prospect.

He isn't the first good one, who was overshadowed by a famous stablemate, shunted into the background as a "work horse." El Chico was fast enough to put almost anything in the shade. But Our Mat, a son of Our General and Matilda, is on his own now, and Matt Brady, trainer for William Ziegler Jr., will treat him with the same courtesy and respect that Esposa receives.

The story of famous "work horses" is a long and amazing saga. The favorite for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, Seabiscuit, was a workmate for Granville, but when he changed hands, and cut free from Granville he became a champion in his own right. Indian Broom, regarded as nothing better than a horse to work with Calvacade, set a new world record for a mile-and-an-eighth several months after he had been sold "down the river" by the Brookmeade stable.

OTT FRACTURES HIS LEFT HAND IN DOOR

NEW YORK—(UP)—Outfielder Mel Ott, captain-elect of the New York Giants, nursed a fractured left hand at his New Orleans home today. The injury was not serious, however, and he will report for spring practice March 5 in Baton Rouge, La. He closed a door on his hand.

Hollywood Park Purses To Total $600,000

INGLEWOOD—(UP)—Southern California, a mecca for winter racing fans, made a bold bid today for the east's prestige in summer racing.

Officials of Hollywood park announced a $600,000 purse schedule for its 43-day meeting which opens June 1. It was a 50 per cent increase over last year and boosted the total prize money awarded by the three Southern California tracks—Hollywood park, Santa Anita and Del Mar—to $1,800,000. It raised the total of purses this year for all California tracks to $2,500,000.

The increase was prompted by the successful inaugural meeting at Hollywood park. Officials are hopeful of keeping on the Pacific Coast many of the crack colts and handicap horses now at Santa Anita and of luring others to the west for the summer months.

The present Santa Anita meeting, which closes March 11, is the richest in turf history. More than $900,000, or a daily average of some $17,000, will be distributed and all but a half dozen of the best horses now in training are quartered at the Arcadia track.

Hollywood is hoping for similar luck. Last year the track drew Lawrin, Dauber, Seabiscuit and Ligarotti among others. With the higher purses, officials hope to attract a much greater number of top runners.

Basketball's Bearded Behemoths Here To Play Dons

Composed of ex-college stars, as well as former members of the colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., the famed House of David basketball team arrived here today to play Santa Ana junior college tonight in Tustin high school's gymnasium. The squad was organized eight years ago by George Johnson, still manager of the bearded behemoths. In the picture, left to right, are Johnson, Guard Artie Deim, Guard Greg Deim, Forward Don Peterson, Forward Elmer Johnson and Center Art Stoeiting, who is 6 feet, 11 inches tall.

Basketball fans and just plain curiosity-seekers will storm Tustin high school's big gym tonight at 8 o'clock when Coach Bill Cook sends his Santa Ana jaysee team against the colorful House of David bearded giants from Benton Harbor, Mich.

The tallest basketball player in America—"Big Boy" Stoeiting, 6'11" center—is the main attraction on the barnstorming behemoths. General admission is 40 cents. Students will be admitted 20 cents.

Stoeiting is not the only star on the invading troupe, according to Manager George Johnson, brother of Santa Ana's Ernie Johnson. The two forwards, Elmer Johnson, six-foot-four former Northwestern player, and Don Peterson of Kentucky U., are considered two of the cleverest ball-handlers in the game. Artie and G. F. (Pappy) Deib are the "midgets" of the team, standing 5'10" and 6 feet, respectively. G. F. Deim hails from the University of Iowa and Artie from Iowa State.

The House of David opened its California tour by trouncing Riverside jaysee, 54-48. Last night, the barnstormers dropped a 44-42 decision to San Diego State, a team that barely lost two games to U.S.C.

The Dons will be materially strengthened as two former Idaho teammates of Russ Deardon, sensational Don freshman, have checked out uniforms and probably will see some action. They are Howard Page, a guard, and Marvin Flitton, forward. Both hail from Idaho Falls, where they played football as well as basketball.

Charles Hall and Art Heinisch are expected to get the call at forward. Deardon will spell Heinisch or Hall. Bob Schildmeyer at center and Lynn Arnett and Larry Monroy at guard are the other probable starters. Centers certain to see action are Bill Reid, Del Holan, Larry Tway, Don Borden and Jack Stafford.

Cy Leivermann who had been counted on to play center for the Dons, has virtually decided to give up basketball. He is thinking seriously of transferring either to the University of New Mexico or St. Mary's next semester.

"A veritable gold mine they call me," chuckled the noted maestro of the turf, "and rightly so," he concluded modestly.

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most emphatically so, as attested by one and all. Hawkeye fans aver that yesterday was merely another of those rare exceptions which but proves the rule when his astute play, Time Alone, failed to score.

McLemore Uncovers Latent Turf Talent

By HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—Goodbye and farewell, dear Public. Adieu, Chow, Auf Wiedersehen, and Adjo. Also one brisk ta-ta.

Because this may be my last effort as a sportswriter before embarking in a new career as a handicapper of race horses. Brilliantly successful in my debut as a selector at Santa Anita yesterday, offers for my services are coming in from all parts of the world.

Postmen and messengers have been to my house so many times since I named four winners on yesterday's card that they are calling me by my first name, helping themselves to cold snacks out of the ice box, and mixing their own drinks.

Some of the offers are almost too substantial to turn down. A collect one from Turkey, for example, guarantees me everything but riparian rights to the Dardanelles if I will only come over and pick the winners. I would do all right there, too, because I am a master of the turkey trot. From far off Arabia came an offer to spend a thousand and one nights in that country, all expenses paid except transportation, room and board.

One of the leading English tout sheets cabled "Do nothing until you talk with us," and a prominent French scratch sheet urged that I join its staff because "Fifty thousand Frenchmen are tired of being wrong."

Very tempting, and very flattering, too, because until yesterday when I served as guest handicapper for a Los Angeles paper, I did not know that I could interpret horses as easily as most men can Sanskrit. Until I agreed to serve as guest handicapper I had never paid much attention to the horse. To me, the horse had always been nothing more vital than the chief source of supply for baseball covers, and something Tom Mix and other western movie stars employed to overtake the train on which the villain had run away with the heroine. But, faced with the task of selecting horses on which thousands of citizens were going to risk their money, I made a serious study of the animal. I never knew, until I settled down to finding out about the horse, that he originated in Arabia and at one time was tree-climbing. Or that many horses don't know a word of English and will respond only half-heartedly to such commands as "Get up!" "Whoa!" and "Roll over and play dead."

Horses aren't very smart, either. There never has been a horse, my research revealed, to make Who's Who, hold a chain at Vassar, or win the Pulitzer prize. The horse, in fact, is very dumb, and it was this knowledge of his backwardness that enabled me to name four winners in one afternoon. In making my selections, I started with the premise that there wasn't a horse on the program who gave a hoot whether he won or lost. Naturally, then, I forgot all about horses, and concentrated on the jockeys. I knew that all jockeys liked to win, because a jockey gets more money when he rides a winner.

My problem, then, was to locate the jockeys who liked most to win. Knowing none of their telephone numbers, I had to go about solving the problem in a cold, scientific manner. Taking one of my hats—the pork pie with the feather in it, as I recall—I placed all the names of the jockeys in it. Then, as a

Jess Willard Joins Dempsey's Business

By H. J. Aronstam
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MIAMI BEACH—A brash "unknown," who later became the Manassa mauler, king of the heavyweight prize fighters, ducked out of a Toledo ring 20 years ago, leaving behind a battered giant and a woman who wept bitterly.

Mrs. Jess Willard never forgot that unmerciful beating administered her husband on that hot fourth of July day. But today Jack Dempsey and Big Jess buried the past and looked toward a future of mutual friendship and business relations.

Dempsey, who dumped his ring profits into a remunerative hotel and restaurant business, became "the boss" to Jess Willard, whose financial glories had faded.

The contrast was striking when they again faced each other before the news cameras in Dempsey's hotel. Dempsey stood calm and debonair. Willard fumbled and fidgeted.

Willard will start as a "good-will" ambassador for a brand of whiskey which Jack is interested in. If he doesn't find that to his liking, Dempsey said, "I have a hundred other spots for him."

Willard had little to say but he was overjoyed.

"I think it's a great proposition and I'm sure it will work out fine," he said as he gripped in friendship the right hand that took his heavyweight title and started Dempsey on the road to success.

Dempsey insisted the work Willard will do is "not a job."

"He's going to be associated with me and he'll be his own boss and keep his own hours," Jack explained. He said Jess would remain in Florida about a month and be chief "hand-shaker" at the Dempsey-Vanderbilt hotel.

He then will go north and work out of New York. His work will consist chiefly of personal appearances at establishments which are Dempsey's customers in the liquor business. If he likes the work, he can become an executive later," Dempsey said.

Willard, who had been staying at a small hotel, today moved into Dempsey's swank hotel here and quickly became the most popular person in the lobby.

Friday's Games
Santa Ana at Chaffey; Redlands at Riverside; San Bernardino at Pomona.

Santa Ana and Pomona high school basketball teams played only one game in Andrews gymnasium last night but it seemed like two.

The Saints won, 41-21, yet it was anybody's contest during the first half which ended with Santa Ana lucky to be in front by one point, 16-15. However, in the last part, the home club scored virtually at will whereas Pomona was limited to five points. It was a startling reversal of form.

The Saints' belated rally was even more unexpected since it came with Gene O'Campo, supposedly their best ball-handler and hottest shot, on the bench. O'Campo fouled out in the second quarter.

Pomona broke on top and led most of the first quarter. O'Campo finally tied it on a free throw and Captain Dick O'Neil put his side ahead for the first time with another charity toss as the period ended. The second chucker also was see-saw, Santa Ana again gaining the lead at the end when Maurice Young intercepted a pass and passed to O'Neil who dribbled under the basket for a set-up.

Coach Joe Koegler must have given his disciples the necessary information at half-time for they outscored Pomona 25-6 during the last two quarters. Bill Hull started the rally with two field goals, one from 25 feet, and all the Saints waxed warm with him. Dick Brown got loose for two set-ups and, with Bob Frias, continued to outspeed the disorganized visitors. Brown's 11 points made him high man.

Santa Ana goes to Chaffey Friday for a game that tells whether the Saints' second-half reformation is permanent. Chaffey nosed out Redlands last night, 24-22, and appears the "team to beat" for the C. B. L. championship.

Santa Ana's sophs dropped last night's curtain-lifter, 26-19. Other "B" scores: Chaffey 17, Redlands 13; Riverside 24, San Bernardino 13.

BEGIN MATCH PLAY QUALIFYING IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Nearly 200 golfers, ranging from ambitious caddies to the nation's top flight performers, tee off today in the San Francisco National Match Play tournament at the Olympic club's tricky Lake-side course.

Play extends through Sunday when two finalists battle it out for the first and second place prize money of $5000.

The first half of 36-hole qualifying play was to be held today. The 16 who turn in the best cards after Tuesday's 18 holes will enter match play Friday.

'HAYSTACK' STOPS HANK BATH IN 4TH

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A towering farmer, "Haystack" Sloan, lived up to his weird ring reputation last night by winning a technical knockout from Hank Bath of New York, at a time he was being battered with everything in the book. Bath, who weighed 175 to Sloan's 194, was way ahead on points in the fourth round when he forgot to duck and caught a punch that slashed open his eyebrows, and his handlers threw in the towel.

What's In Cards?

John Henry Lewis, above, light heavyweight champion in all states but New York, predicted today that he would outpoint Champion Joe Louis in their heavyweight title match a week from tonight in Madison Square Garden.

"I always go in with the intention of outpointing my man," Lewis said. "If a knockout opportunity presents itself, naturally I take advantage of it. I'm positive I can outpoint Louis. I know I'm a better boxer. I've had more experience than Joe, although we're the same age, 25. Nobody ever knocked me out and I've got more speed than Louis and a pretty good punch myself."

ORANGE AGAIN BEATS TUSTIN

Stymied by a tight zone defense, Tustin's basketball squad was defeated by Orange again yesterday, this time 22-16. Played at Tustin, the game produced the Farmers' second defeat in 15 games—both by Orange.

The Panthers set the pace all the way, although at one time late in the second half only two points separated the quintets. Orange led at the half, 8-6. Gunther and Krage were high for Orange with 7 points. Lawrence and Linker led the Tillers with 5.

Tustin won the Class B game, 17-11, as well as the "C" tussle, 14-10. Orange's Dees finished on top, 28-16. Lineups:

MIAMI (UP)—Earl Sande, once the country's leading jockey, who booted home three Kentucky Derby winners, was named today the outstanding trainer of 1938.

The honor was voted him by the New York Turf Writers' association. Sande trained Stagehand, biggest money winner last year. His racers brought a total of $226,495 to his employer, Maxwell Howard.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer was voted the leading breeder, Johnny Longden the leading jockey and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, leading sportsman.

DISCLOSE HOW COL. RUPPERT SHIELDED CLUB

NEW YORK—(UP)—Edward G. Barrow, 71-year-old former newspaperman, baseball player, club owner and manager, today was president of the game's richest and most powerful team—the New York Yankees.

Barrow, who has spent 19 of his 45 years in organized baseball with the Yankees, was elected yesterday, filling the post held by the former owner and president, the late Col. Jacob Ruppert.

Barrow steered the Boston Red Sox to the American league pennant and won a world series victory in 1918; he was a minor league player and once was part-owner of the Toronto club of the old Eastern league. He also managed the Detroit Tigers for two years.

He joined the Yankees in 1920 as business manager and secretary, a job he held until yesterday when he was elected president after Ruppert's brother George had refused the post.

Names Board of Trustees

Under the terms of that part of Ruppert's will concerning the Yankees—the remainder won't be read for ten days—the team is to be perpetuated by a board of trustees for the next two Ruppert generations. The board consists of George Ruppert, H. Garrison Sillick, Jr., a brother-in-law; Frederick E. Grant, for many years Ruppert's attorney, and Barrow.

The surviving directors elected Barrow president. George Weiss, general manager of the Yankee minor league farms, was selected secretary, replacing Barrow, and Byron Clark, Jr., Ruppert's counsel, was elected a director to succeed Col. Ruppert on the board.

George Ruppert retained his post as vice-president after turning down the nomination for president because he will be too busy with other Ruppert holdings. Al Brennan is treasurer and Grant and Clark will hold the Ruppert interests.

Protects Club's Finances

Of all his vast holding, Ruppert is understood to have made specific provision for the perpetuation of only one, the Yankees. Everything legally possible was done to keep the club from falling into the residuary estate. And, as a measure of protection against financial embarrassment to the club (due to the enormous demands that will be made for payment of inheritance taxes) Ruppert provided all such taxes shall be paid out of the residuary estate.

He also provided that the trusts taking part in all his holdings other than the ball club, may make loans and advances to the baseball trust to enable it to meet any possible financial contingency.

Under that set-up, the Yankees will endure as long as the law will allow. A trust can endure only during the lifetime of two beneficiaries. So Ruppert provided that the club trusts remain intact during the life-time of his grandchildren, children of Mrs. Joseph Halloran and Mrs. Joseph McGuire, daughters of his sister, Mrs. Amanda Sillick. Both children are infants so the life of the trusts and the Yankees under them may be 50 years or more.

ALFALFA STAND CARE OUTLINED

Alfalfa fields can be kept cleaner from weeds and foreign grasses and thrier plant growth maintained by harrowing or disking the fields in the dormant period, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

Cross Harrowed

"As soon as the soil has dried out sufficiently to work without packing, following the first rains in the fall, the land should be cross harrowed with a spring-tooth harrow or disk," Cory said. "Where the stand has thinned out but is still too good to be plowed up and reseeded, the stand can be thickened by broadcasting 12 to 15 pounds of alfalfa seed per acre after the spring-tooth harrowing, followed by a straight tooth harrowing.

"Or where it is expected to work up the land after the first two or three cuttings, the yield of hay can be increased by broadcasting 25 or 30 pounds of barley or oats per acre following the first time over with the spring-tooth harrow. The second time over with the harrow will serve to cover the seed.

Credit of Two Acres

"The renovation of alfalfa stands carries a credit of two acres, which equals one unit under the Agricultural Conservation program, where a sufficient quantity of good seed is planted following the renovation.

"Seeding of new alfalfa carries a credit of one acre, which equals two units. Additional credit may be obtained by application of 48 pounds of phosphate or 54 pounds of sulphur. Credit can be secured by the addition of sulphur to old stands as well, but only applies to new stands in the case of phosphates.

In the interest of increased protection to the motorist, a non-pickable lock, which it is claimed can be opened with no other instrument than the owner's key, is being placed on the market.

ARRANGE LECTURE AT CHURCH FRIDAY

Stewart Hydamus, of Long Beach, at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, Cypress and Bishop streets.

This was the announcement today of the Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor of the church, who stated that Dr. Hydamus will answer numerous questions of interest to both Bible and science students. ### SURPRISE HONOREE

WESTMINSTER, Jan. 18.—A. J. Owens was the surprise honoree at an evening dinner party planned and carried out by his sons and daughters and their families from Long Beach and Pasadena who came to join in best wishes on his birthday anniversary. The party was quite a large one with children, "in-laws" and grandchildren all participating in the gala affair. Mr. and Mrs. Owens, who have been spending some time in Long Beach had just returned to again be houseguests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook, with whom they spend considerable time.

FLYING AROUND with DALE DECKERT

Plan of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, supported by the President, to train 20,000 pilots a year at government expense continues to be the main topic of discussion in the aviation world. One question often asked is, "Will women have a chance for free training?" As much as men, since the program is civil. Another question is, "Will the government employ civil equipment and civil instructors?" So the President says. Only a relatively few selected graduates will be chosen for special Army and Navy courses. A third question is, "Will the government regulate aviation schools?" Only to the extent that it may regulate interstate commerce. What it can do is to pick out schools of a quality it approves and force the schools of lower standards to improve themselves to get government-subsidized pupils. Government officials are inclined to think that the age limits, 18 to 25, will be continued, as experience has indicated that they are about right. They also have decided views on what constitutes a disciplined mind. As a good many boys who would make first rate officers are not in a position to pay for two years in college to fit themselves to take the mental examinations required by the armed services, the government may find it expedient to furnish more than aviation schooling in special cases.

County Moves To Solve Levee Fund Crisis

TAKES $24,500
GIVES $50,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The formidable list of those eighteen farm senators who were supposed to be backing the new Frazier-Lemke price fixing bill is getting weaker.

South Dakota's Senator Bulow quietly erased his name, saying he had not authorized its use. One other senator has announced privately to his colleagues he is withdrawing, while several others are looking for an informal exit.

What fooled some of the senators and the public was the omission of any reference to "price-fixing" in original publicity. But the bill does propose to fix them—and rigorously.

First it tells the secretary of agriculture to find out the cost of production of all major farm products—a simple matter of ascertaining the cost of land, mortgage, seed and labor of every acre in the country no two of which are exactly alike. The price of the product is then fixed, and any miller, processor, gin or handler who fails to pay the "cost-of-production" price can go to jail for one year and pay $1,000 fine.

One of General Franco's generals is saying they will be in Barcelona in 30 days. Authorities here would say 90 days—probably.

If and when Franco arrives in Barcelona the war will be over. While the Madrid Loyalist sector is larger, its military strength rests mostly on Barcelona, where the military command, government officials and main supplies are quartered. It would be militarily impossible for the Loyalists to maintain themselves long once their new capital has fallen.

What strengthens local belief that Franco's general is nearly right, is evidence that there will be no intervention from Britain and France. Also there is evidence Mussolini will not withdraw from Spain until Franco has won.

U. S. diplomats are not smoking up very much over the Chamberlain failure in Rome. They have a hunch the Duce will be ready to deal as soon as he wins in Spain. All they expect him to get in the deal is a minor say in the management of the Suez canal and access to the Djibouti railway. He will think this will open up Ethiopia to Rome, and it will as long as he remains peaceful. But no one here can conjure a lifeline picture of Britain and France letting Mussolini get a hold which could not readily be broken in case of trouble.

No Italian troops will be allowed to get very close to Suez, for example.

March 15 has been set privately by the coal commission for announcing new coal prices—and they probably will be up.

One interesting part of it is that two weeks later, John Lewis must conclude negotiations for a new contract. His two year agreement with the operators ends April 1. Lewis will no doubt ask for a wage boost but the operators will decline it, and the present wage scale probably will be continued another two years.

Another indication that FDR does not really expect a European war in the spring.

175 BOYS AND GIRLS TAKEN TO JUVENILE COURT IN YEAR

Stanton and Anaheim led Orange county in juvenile delinquency in proportion to population during 1938, although Santa Ana had the largest total of juvenile delinquents, it was shown in the annual report of Mrs. Nora Allen, county probation officer, just filed with the supervisors.

There were 175 boys and girls handled in juvenile court during the year, 56 coming from Santa Ana and 29 from Anaheim. Stanton contributed five. Among the large cities of the county, Orange had the lowest delinquency, equaling the number from Stanton.

The juvenile division had 93 wards added during the year, making a total of 190 on January 1, 1939, 85 probation periods having expired during the year. There were 179 children in juvenile home during the year, 32 being there at present.

Besides the 175 boys and girls in juvenile court last year, another 360, including 315 boys and 45 girls, were handled out of court.

Records show that of the 175 in court, 17 were sent to Ione, 6 to Whittier, 1 girl to Ventura, 26 transferred to other counties, 26 released to parents, 50 sent to juvenile home, 1 to Los Angeles sanitarium, 6 released to other than parents, 2 to Sunny Crest school for boys, 1 to Salvation Army home, 1 remanded to another court, 1 to the custody of the welfare department, 15 to custody of probation officer, 5 had driving licenses suspended and 17 cases were dismissed.

56 From Santa Ana
Santa Ana furnished 56 of the 175 juvenile offenders, Anaheim contributing 29, Fullerton 12, Costa Mesa and Huntington Beach, 8 each; Orange and Stanton, 5 each; Garden Grove, Tustin, Placentia, Newport Beach, San Juan Capistrano, 3 each; Midway City, Seal Beach, Buena Park, El Modena, Corona Del Mar and La Habra, 2 each; Los Alamitos, Brea and Laguna Beach, 1 each; outside of the county, 22.

The probation department collected $986.15 from probationers and parents of the care of children, and $55.21 from probationers for restitution.

County Acts To Aid Safety Drive

Steps to protect traffic at a road crossing where seven lives were lost last year were taken yesterday by adoption of Supervisor Harry D. Riley's motion to seek a sodium vapor light, warning signs, and other cautionary devices at the intersection of La Mirada avenue and Telegraph Road, west of La Habra.

State highway officials will be asked to install the light, signs, etc., at the intersection, these being state routes. Three accidents at the intersection resulted in seven deaths besides injury of numerous others during 1938, Riley told the board.

INSTALLATION

STREET PETITION DENIED BY BOARD

A recommendation by the county planning commission yesterday blocked a move to abandon portions of Pearl and First streets at McPherson, the planning commission declaring it was a bad precedent to narrow a street from 60 feet to 40 feet in width.

The supervisors adopted the recommendation and denied the petition to abandon.

Property Owners At Dam Must Move

Owners of property in Prado basin, who sell to the county flood control district, will not be permitted "prolonged occupancy of the premises, under lease or otherwise, unless such lease be a necessary condition of the purchase."

Such a policy of the board of supervisors was adopted late yesterday on motion of Supervisor Harry D. Riley. The move was taken, it was explained, to avoid title complications.

Fullerton J. C. Checks Finances

Arrangements for financing Fullerton junior college and Fullerton union high school over the tax "dry" period until second installment taxes come in were started by the county supervisors late yesterday when Clerk Basil J. Smith was instructed to advertise $75,000 junior college tax anticipation warrants and $25,000 high school warrants for sale January 26.

Various school districts of the county employed similar financing methods late last year, before the first installment of taxes was collected.

Party Hostess Honors Guest From Orient

Suggesting the sea voyage upon which a charming Southland visitor, Mrs. J. F. Reed, is soon to embark when she returns to her home in Shanghai, China, were decorative details of a bridge party at which Mrs. Don S. Moxley last night complimented Mrs. Reed. The latter has been visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Olin S. Turner, 1523 West Ninth street, and has been inspiration for many pleasant parties.

Mrs. Moxley had planned the serving of dessert course as introduction to the evening of bridge, and asked her guests to find places at the dining table, where a marine motif was developed with grouped sail boats. Boat place cards served for recording contract scores when the guests were re-grouped around card tables in the spacious living room.

Mrs. Don Edwards won first prize and the hostess presented an equally pretty gift to her party honoree, Mrs. Reed and her small daughter were to conclude their Santa Ana visit today, but will not sail for Shanghai until early February. Mr. Reed is connected with the telephone company in the Chinese city.

Guests sharing Mrs. Moxley's hospitality included with Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Turner, Mesdames Delbert Liggett, Jesse Elliott, Frank Latham, Ray Wolven, C. E. Hayes, John Vernon, John H. Turton, Carlyle Dennis and Don Edwards.

Bible Section Continues Book Review Series

Prefacing their program with a covered dish luncheon, Bible Literature section members of Santa Ana Woman's club met Monday with Mrs. C. W. Clarke, 1322 North Garvey street. White bowls of California holly were used by the hostess to center her tables.

Mrs. M. O. Wells, section leader, announced that Mrs. George Gould would have charge of manuscripts to be submitted in the Southern District essay contest on "Why I Should Know My Bible." Mrs. P. R. Arnold reviewed another chapter of Bruce Barton's book, "The Man Nobody Knows." Mrs. William Whitehead continued her review of "The History of the Bible" by E. J. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Clarke followed with more material relative to "The Bible is True" by Sir Charles Marston.

The pageantry which is a feature of the section meetings was presented by Mrs. Wells, author of the scripts of the Bible series. Mrs. J. D. Watkins portrayed the character of Queen Esther, in appropriate costume. The next episode will be on February 20 when Mrs. Arnold will receive the section in her home, 623 East Chestnut street.

Present Monday were the Misses Mary Oakes, Maude Harbor, Mesdames Charles Oakes, M. O. Wells, Charles Clarke, George Gould, H. C. Eckel, William Kuhn, C. H. Stanley, P. R. Arnold, M. Clynnick, E. G. Warner, L. E. Tarbox, Eva Irwin, William Whitehead, Minnie Collins, J. E. Braden, J. D. Watkins, and a guest, Mrs. Albert Raymond of Anaheim.

Tri-City Group Has Dinner Dance

Employees of Firestone Auto Supply and Service stores of Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton were joined by their wives and other guests recently for a dinner dance at Anaheim Elks club.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Firestone, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rawling, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Reed, Charles Huddleston, Miss Johnny Crenshaw, Leroy Hyde, Miss Adeline Loptein and Charles Reither, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Neil Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stovall, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Duke Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bettis, Mr. and Mrs. McLeod, Miss Nila Burns and Robert Buckmaster, Fullerton.

Woman's Club Addressed On Interesting Subject

Reunion features seemed to take prominence in yesterday afternoon's meeting of Woman's club of Santa Ana in Veterans' hall, for various members were present after long and serious illnesses, and the guest speaker, Mrs. Benjamin Warner of Ontario, returned as an old friend, to a club which she has visited many times in the past.

Program features introduced by Miss Blanche Seely, program chairman, were preceded by routine business, directed by Mrs. L. E. Tarbox, president. Decision was reached to complete the club's foundation fund allotment. There was discussion also of the annual birthday luncheon in February, and Mrs. Tarbox asked that reservations be made with her or with Mrs. Charles W. Clarke and Mrs. P. R. Arnold.

Miss Seely presented the opening musical feature, the Frances Willard junior high school orchestra and its director, Herbert A. Michel. Orchestra numbers were the spirited "Festival March" and "Gypsy Trail," a specified number on the national contest between junior high orchestras. Four youths formed a trumpet quartet playing "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise" and "Bells of St. Mary's."

Introducing the guest speaker, Mrs. Warner, Miss Seely spoke of her prominence as past president of Southern District Federation of Women's clubs, and her present activities as chairman of civil welfare and public health.

Mrs. Warner chose "Balance" as the theme of her thoughtful talk, pointing out the necessity of attaining and maintaining a proper balance in the complicated life of today. She compared women's diverse interests of the present world with those of an earlier era when each little community was dependent upon itself in a way that was completely changed when modern inventions and conveniences widened the boundaries.

Applying the Biblical idea of "lengthening the ropes and strengthening the stakes" to modern life, she expressed a doubt of the sufficient strengthening of stakes in the lengthening ropes of present day existence, and asked among other questions, if mothers of today set as valuable examples to their children, as their own mothers had set. She cited as a book valuable in its applications to daily living, "Man, The Unknown," by Dr. Alexis Carrel.

At the conclusion of the program, members enjoyed renewing acquaintance with the guest speaker during the tea hour. Mrs. R. W. Cole and Mrs. G. V. Linsenbard poured tea and coffee at a table where scarlet candles flickered above a mound of poinsettias.

There were special greetings for Mesdames Asa Vandermast, William Whitehead and Anna Gale, all of whom have missed many meetings because of illness, although Mrs. Whitehead is now able to attend with more or less regularity.

Knights of Columbus Set Date for Dance

Planned as a pre-Lenten affair in the semi-formal dance which Santa Ana council, Knights of Columbus will give Saturday night, February 18 at 9:30 o'clock at Santa Ana Country club. Clarence Williams and his Knights of Swing will provide the music.

The public is invited to attend the party, which will come as the second annual affair to be given by the local Casesys. Last year's dance was so successful that it was decided to give a similar affair during each winter season.

Bernard Haupt general chairman of the function, has the assistance of A. A. Mandy, grand knight, and Thomas Giesler, lecturer for the Council, in carrying out plans.

Jimmie Fidler in hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18. — I think someone ought to have a heart-to-heart talk with Marlene Dietrich, for she's making the same mistake that's doomed so many other tottering stars to complete oblivion. She lost her Paramount contract because her pictures weren't swelling studio dividends. She hasn't worked for a year—and that's long enough for any star to fade from the memories of millions of fans. Every day that she remains absent from the screen imposes a further handicap on her chances for a successful comeback.

There's just one reason why Marlene isn't working—she asks too big a salary. Looking over the poor box office records of her Paramount productions, producers are afraid to meet her terms, which, I understand, are approximately $125,000 a picture. It seems to me that she would be much wiser to admit that there's reason to doubt her popularity, cut her price in half, and get back before the cameras NOW—without giving theatre-goers any more time to forget her existence. I suppose she reasons that once her salary is cut, she would lose prestige. Perhaps she would—but not at one-tenth the rate she is losing it by continued idleness. Furthermore, the idleness precludes the possibility of that one smash hit, which would instantly put her back in the big money bracket.

Why expect the producer to do all the gambling? Marlene certainly has as much to gain as he can have. He wants a profitable picture; she wants a new lease on professional life. She should be willing to take her share of the hazard. And, after all, not even our money-drunk ODD - INFORMATION: Akim Tamiroff is an adept at deaf mute sign language. Norman Foster owns a book store. The average major-studio director shoots between 350,000 and 450,000 feet of film in order to get the 10,000 feet which comprises the finished feature-length picture. Nicknames: Wayne Morris' mother-in-law calls him "Slug." That mild-mannered little Donald Meek used to be the "top man" in a team of vaudeville acrobats.

Edgar Kennedy, one of the original Keystone Kops, landed his first job with Mack Sennett by offering to whip any three men on the lot—and making good on his boast. Hermes Pan, RKO dance director, is a dead ringer for Fred Astaire—and a good enough dancer to double for him in any routine. That realistic frost you see on movie window panes is a combination of beer and epsom salts. Tough-guy Charlie Bickford's greatest pride is his skill as a dahlia grower. The Number One and Number Two Idols of juvenile England are Mickey Mouse and Buck Jones.

For a major production, the property man must procure and keep tab on an average of 5000 separate items. Robert Montgomery once worked as a stoker on a tramp freighter. Don't feel too sorry for the actors when you see them working in rain scenes—usually the rain is falling only on the area between them and the cameras. Add licorice drop addicts: Lew Ayres. Harold Lloyd's generally conceded to be Hollywood's richest star.

Another one of those gagging feuds is under way, this time with Jack Haley and Bert Lahr—the Tin Woodman and The Cowardly Lion, respectively, in "The Wizard of Oz"—as participants. It started when Jack bribed the studio hairdresser, who was marcelling the "Lion's" shaggy hair, to short-circuit the curler. Bert got a shock that made him break all high-jump records. Haley was today's victim. He fell asleep on the set and Bert took advantage.

of that opportunity. When Jack awoke he found his "tin" suit papered with tomato can labels.

A few weeks ago, Joan Blondell bought a new hat—one of those insane little gadgets that perch jauntily over the wearer's left ear. Dick Powell and six-year-old Norman Scott Barnes, as disapproving as all men but more tactful than most, said nothing. But every morning for the next two weeks, they came to breakfast with tiny paper hats clamped atop their heads by means of rubber bands. At the end of the two weeks, Joan—who had matched their silence—solemnly threw her new hat in the fireplace. Dick and Norman promptly followed suit. Complete serenity reigns again in the Powell household.

Charley Eldridge, a 75-year-old veteran of the Indian wars, is working as technical advisor on the Wanger epic, "Stage Coach." Yesterday a scene called for the use of a mountain field gun, technically known to all army men as a "Jackass Battery." "Hey," yelled Charlie to the assistant property man, who's fresh from Broadway, "bring over that jack ass battery, will you?" Props looked knowing. "You ain't kidding me," he retorted. "I'm an easterner, but I know jackasses don't run on batteries!" (Copyright 1939, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Mrs. Boyer Describes South American Travels

Describing her recent trip to South America "as one traveler to another," Mrs. C. P. Boyer Monday afternoon gave a talk before members of the Ebell Second Travel Section in the clubhouse, where a monthly meeting was held.

Since so many of the section members have enjoyed interesting trips, they had a special appreciation for the many travel features which Mrs. Boyer discussed. She told of her departure with 30 other voyagers last September for six different South American countries. They included Colombia, Peru, Chili, Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay.

Modes of travel from one province to another were described, as were the countries and their people. Adding to the interest of her talk, Mrs. Boyer displayed curios including silver articles, quaint dolls, pictures and other souvenirs of her trip. One of the communities most widely-traveled residents, Mrs. Boyer spoke of her last year's trip to South America as one of the most enjoyable she has experienced.

Members were interested in learning that one of their group, Mrs. M. C. Kenton of this city can be reached at the following address: "Franconia Cruise, Bombay, India," for a time. She and Mr. Kenton left here soon after Christmas on a leisurely around-the-world trip.

Monday's program features were preceded by a luncheon served by Mesdames John J. Harrison, J. H. Tompkins, R. E. Coulter and W. L. Duggan, hostesses for the day. They had arranged white hyacinths, daisies and purple asters as springtime centerpieces at small tables.

The leader, Mrs. Theo Winbiger conducted a meeting during which Mrs. V. Wardell, Mrs. E. M. Dozier, Mrs. Arthur Smith and Miss Leonora Tompkins were introduced as guests. Mrs. Smith later became a member of the section, which now has a membership quota of 36.

Cottage Cheese-Nut Loaf
1 cup cottage cheese, well mashed
1 cup chopped walnuts, or other nuts
1/2 cup dried bread crumbs
1 beaten egg
1/2 cup strained tomato (thick pulp)

1 tablespoon each, lemon juice and melted butter.

1 tablespoon chopped green pepper.

Pinch of salt and 1/2 teaspoon onion extract (or grated onion.)

—contributed.

Mix in order listed and pour into a generously buttered baking dish. Bake in a 400 degree oven until firm to finger tip. Invert on hot platter and serve with a cream sauce mixed with 1 chopped hard boiled egg and 1 tablespoon of minced parsley.

While canned pimiento will not have just the taste of green pepper, it will do when peppers are not in the market. I suggest for the sauce a can of mushroom or celery cream soup, heated and diluted with top milk, the egg and parsley then added.

Stuffed Rose Apple Salad
6 large firm apples, peeled and cored widely.
2 cups sugar boiled with

3 cups water
1 stick cinnamon, broken
Red fruit coloring to color syrup
1 additional cup of sugar
—contributed.

Use a flat bottomed pan large enough to take apples comfortably. Simmer apples in the seasoned colored syrup, turning each apple frequently so that it colors and cooks evenly. After a few minutes add the extra cup of sugar and cook apples until you can pierce them with a straw. Take saucepan off fire and spoon the syrup over them for 10 minutes. Takes up and let drain.

Chill the colored apples until ready to make into salads. For stuffing use a combination of celery and walnuts mixed with mayonnaise, or cream cheese and nuts mixed with mayonnaise.

This is a beautiful salad for any occasion, and is especially grand when served with baked ham, roast pork, or poultry.

Review of "What a Life"

Mrs. Charles C. Brisco gave a review of "What a Life" by Clifford Goldsmith Monday afternoon at a meeting of chapter AB P.E.O. in the home of Mrs. G. E. Bruns, 1209 Spurgeon street.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bruns, Mrs. Mark Lacy and Miss Susan Cloyes. They served luncheon in advance of the enjoyable program. Chinese lilies and sweet peas provided a pretty background.

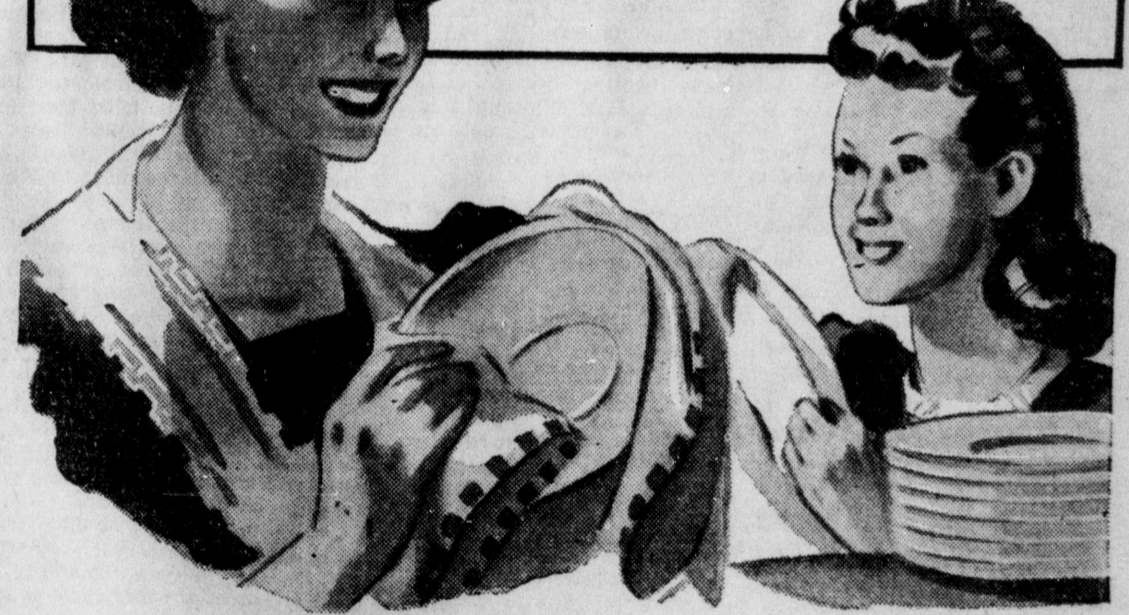

Next meeting will be held February 6.

Since 1932, the gross American farm income has increased nearly $3,000,000,000.

Delighted with the speed and lower cost of a new automatic gas water heater...

YOUNG and OLD in the family will come in for a full share of convenience if you install an adequate, up-to-date water heater!

Modern, it will be automatic and gas-operated, of course—and that means hot water at the right temperature (thermostatically controlled) any time! The annoyance of lighting by hand is eliminated, as well as the additional expense of having water run cold between uses.

Investigate all the advantages of automatic water heating with modern gas equipment. See a merchant plumber, dealer or your gas company.

WATER-HEATING • HOUSE-HEATING • REFRIGERATION • COOKING

BATHING is always convenient when you have automatic gas water heating. All you need do is turn the faucet handle. It is low-cost service, too, with natural gas!

Quick hot water is a special necessity for shaving! No need to wait in the morning or any other time when you have a modern automatic gas water heater.

Remember... (1) Water heaters are made in different sizes for different requirements. It is wise to get the right size for your family's needs. (2) Tanks of special, rustproof alloys last longer. (3) The Blue Star Seal means that an appliance has passed national tests. Look for the seal on any equipment you consider.

THE RIGHT IDEA

It is a principle of American sportsmanship that a man tackling a tough problem be given a cheer of encouragement and a chance to "show his stuff" before any boos are sounded. As WPA administrator, Harry Hopkins was accorded boos in great plenty. And as the nation's new Secretary of Commerce, the American people, irrespective of political loyalties, wish Mr. Hopkins success and hope he delivers.

Right off, Secretary Hopkins announces a drive to create a "re-employment psychology" among business leaders, large and small, with a view of transferring a vast army of workers from WPA payrolls to the payrolls of private industry.

That objective is laudable, is assuredly in line with the attitude of industrialists—wary of the excess tax drain for WPA funds—and the possibilities are limitless. An excess of workers because of over-production is often talked of. But—of America's 32,000,000 families, one-fourth have no automobiles, scarcely more than half have telephones, one-fifth no radios, more than half no electric refrigerators, one-third no access to electricity, nearly a fifth no bathtubs.

Over-production? Hardly! Furthermore, WPA "made" work is virtually sterile with regard to supplying those needs. The labor of private enterprise, as always, must produce the wealth-creating goods that bring necessities and comforts to the American home.

The new Secretary of Commerce seems started on the right track, and if he sticks to it, America's business men will meet him half-way—and then some.

THE "AMERICAN WAY"

During 1938 approximately 31,500 people in the United States were killed by automobiles. That certainly is an appalling figure; yet there is a lot of encouragement in it, because it is about 8000 below the figure for 1937 and it indicates that the nation is at last beginning to solve its traffic death problem.

And it is the way the problem was tackled, the things that were done to solve it and the way the machinery was set in motion that this much-talked-of "American way" can be seen in action.

The problem was studied on a broad front. The best brains available were put to work on it. Every angle was examined, from the work of school safety patrols to the possibility of eliminating danger through better highway engineering. The results were pooled and made easily available to authorities everywhere. And then the campaign got under way.

Like the original study, it was carried on on a broad front. The public was given a course of education. Traffic codes were revised. New systems of police control were built up. And gradually the campaign began to be effective. Other methods were devised and tried out. Numbers of them.

Now all of that is a pretty fair sample of what we call the "American way"—or, if you prefer, the democratic way, the way of a free society—in operation.

It was not a campaign imposed from above. Instead it developed in response to a completely aroused and informed public opinion. There was no censorship to keep news of the situation from reaching the people; there was no repression to keep each man from speaking his mind about it; there was no regimentation to keep a score of solutions from being tried at once, so that a process of experimentation could cull out the worthless ones.

Instead there was a pooling of brains, so to speak; a uniting of the nation's best thought and best effort. And because the program was evolved that way, it will stick.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

NEARLY RIGHT, MR. SINCLAIR

In Upton Sinclair's booklet, "The Way Out," he says, "It is not true that the ostrich sticks his head into the sand when he sees danger: the only creatures who do that are the American editors, statesmen, business men and bankers."

Instead of saying "statesmen," I think he should have said politicians and officeholders, as statesmen would not do this. In addition to those mentioned by Sinclair, he should have included educators, preachers and social service clubs. They, together with those mentioned by Sinclair, seem to have little conception of where we are going and why we are on our road.

"WHERE WOULD YOU CUT COSTS?"

(From The New York Times)

In his annual message Mr. Roosevelt said in effect to Congress: "If you want a balanced budget you will have to cut government costs, and just where will you cut them?" That same question, invariably is put to everyone who urges Federal retrenchment. It was put to Mr. Roosevelt himself in 1932, when he promised to cut the Hoover budget by 25 per cent. It is worth while to recall his answer; for it went straight to the heart of the matter then and it still goes straight to the heart of the matter now.

It is futile, Mr. Roosevelt said in 1932, to expect "any important economy" from an administration (he was speaking of Mr. Hoover's administration) which is "committed to the idea that we ought to center control of everything in Washington as rapidly as possible."

A MINISTER'S FORESIGHT

This newspaper is reproducing below the first installment of an article written by Rev. James W. Fifield, Jr., minister of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles. We believe this minister has a real vision and a farsighted interpretation of the real philosophy of Christianity. He seems to recognize, as most ministers, we are sorry to say, do not, that the very crux of the philosophy of Christianity is the right of the individual to make decisions with the least possible coercion from others or from the state. He sees, judging from his article, what this gradual, creeping infringement on the rights of the individual by the state eventually will mean. He seems to realize that Jesus Christ was very much interested in trying to establish the independence and liberty of the individual.

We want to congratulate Reverend Fifield for his courage, his leadership and his vision and the service that he is attempting to render humanity in recognizing the opportunities Christian ministers have and his attempt to call them to their real mission. Would that every minister would accept the responsibility of leadership as Reverend Fifield outlines. We are reproducing below the first installment of this article.

CHRISTIAN MINISTERS—AMERICA'S FUTURE

We ministers have special opportunities and special responsibilities in these critical days. The worldwide drift toward paganism and apostasy has quickened and broadened into a stampede. Worldwide Nazification is proposed. Widespread warfare is feared. Totalitarianisms of various complexions are destroying freedoms in other nations and in our own.

America's movement toward dictatorship has already eliminated checks and balances by its concentration of powers in our chief executive. State rights are already reduced and are further threatened. Legions of employees with their hands in the public purse maintain terrific propaganda which is wearing down the resistance of private citizens who face difficult problems resulting from the present trend.

The trend toward dictatorship is being furthered by political and also by economic means. On the one hand, democracy, with its individual freedom and responsibility, is endangered. On the other hand, capitalism or free enterprise, is being restricted by movements toward State socialism and planned economy of hybrid sort in which government would control business and the chief executive officer would become also the general manager of business in the United States.

The dictatorship trend is destructive of ideals to which we ministers, by our vows of ordination, are committed. It undermines conditions which are essential to Christian ideals and Christian action. Christianity and freedom must be protected or be destroyed together. Protection of free speech, free press, free assembly and free pulpit is essential to prevention of religion's decline. "It can happen here," and indeed is happening here now.

Ministers and laity alike have been caught up in the humanitarian talk of the New Deal and have been blinded to its perils. With the importance of some of its avowed, ultimate objectives, we are in hearty accord. Especially those of us who have churches in close-margin districts have rejoiced in the cry against social injustice. Now, however, it is obvious that (1.) loss of freedom is too great a price to pay for promised security and (2.) that the promised security will not be, cannot be, delivered. The road that we thought led to emancipation leads to increased enslavement.

Leaders of some signally important groups are reversing their positions as they see the dangers behind the hand that is feeding or beckoning them. The leaders of the great Roman Catholic Church know that continuance of the dictatorship trend here will lead to the tragic conditions it now faces in the lands of dictatorship. Leaders of various labor groups realize that they cannot afford to contribute further to the development of a Frankenstein monster which will assuredly destroy the progress of the labor movement, attained at great cost through long years. We ministers must envision a State which exalts itself above God, silences God's prophets, such as Niemoeller and thrives on pagan practices or else we must promptly sound an alarm against the direction in which America is now moving.

Fourteen nations have sold liberties to buy promised security which in no case has been vouchsafed. We dare not, even by silence and inference, be part of a program which lifts common kind with unredeemable promises, only to give them a harder fall further along. We do not defend all things as they were, but we believe that democracy and capitalism hold greater possibilities than dictatorship. The American system has given its citizens the greatest opportunities ever attained in history. With our awakened humanitarianism and with evolution through education and legislation, the American system promises much more than any dictatorship, more than any State socialism or other planned economy can reasonably offer. It is stupid to remember only the faults of our system and to observe only the good promises of other systems suggested to supplant it.

The American system may be a "relic of the horse and buggy days" and its Constitution may be "cumbersome," but the witness of nations which have stream-lined into dictatorship is a clear warning to those of us who would preserve the ideals, liberties and opportunities which have been and may continue to be the great American heritage. Americans should be safeguarding their constitutional government instead of passively watching its destruction. The Constitution offers greater foundation for a worthy future than ANY dictator can in honesty guarantee.

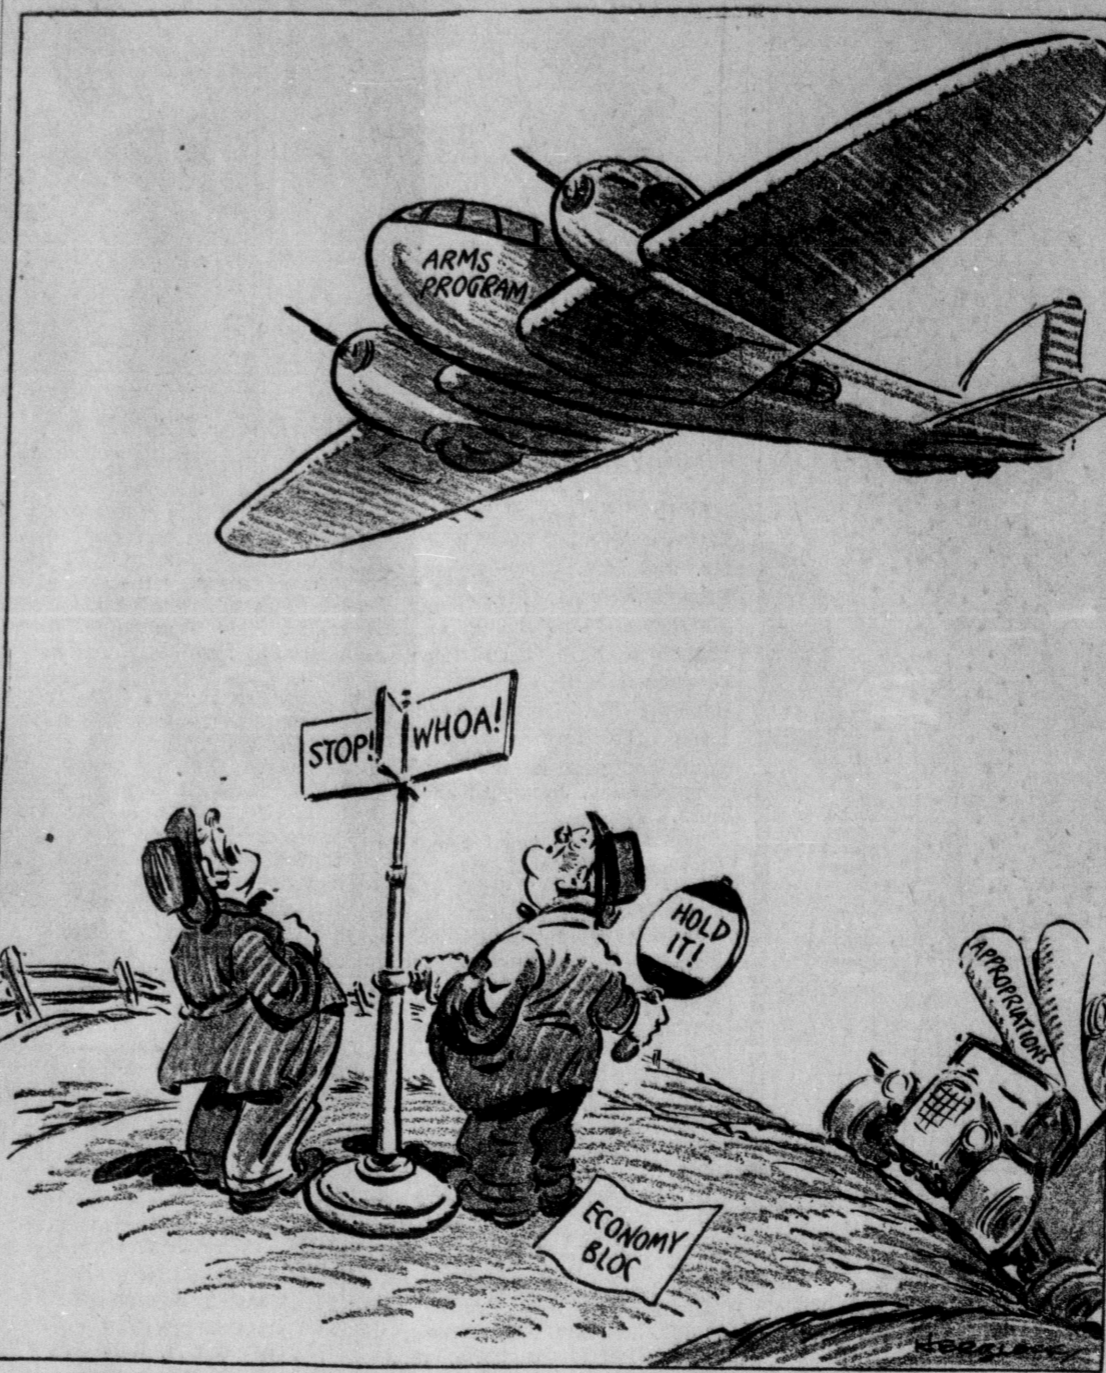

There is something definitely Christian about standing for freedom in a freedom-abandoning age. There is nothing partisan about this issue. It transcends in philosophy and in importance the boundaries of Republican or Democratic parties. Jesus' teachings are a commentary upon the importance of freedom. He, too, had known the false prophets and the short-sighted leaders who promised freedom, but who produced slavery instead. History is said to have turned forward or backward eleven times upon the question of whether to sell freedom for promised security.

Every concentration of power in our national government, and especially in its executive branch, represents a reduction of freedom for the individual citizen and for the constituent States. The powers already acquired through grant of Congress and through expansion of bureaus will become permanent unless their return is demanded by an aroused, alert citizenry under capable leadership, such as the clergy could provide. "Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty."

For three reasons the time has come to "sound the alarm." (1.) The further the cumulative trend advances, the more difficult the return becomes; (2.) if the world becomes involved in further warfare, dictatorship in America will be more difficult to prevent; and (3.) large groups of people are disillusioned and await leadership. There is a restlessness everywhere of the sort which ranchers do not like to see in their cattle because it portends trouble. Increasing numbers of our people are realizing that "all is not well." They are becoming fearful of dangerous traps toward which various baits of the intriguing "something for nothing" sort have lured them. Twelve million unemployed in America move rapidly toward the perilous attitude of welcoming "any" change. Even some who are on relief and in government employ are ready to put their love of country and their belief in the American system ahead of any present, personal gains. Surely conditions make immediate action important.

Fellow Citizens:

If you are suffering from a lack of the "abundant life." If you are worrying about what Adolf and Il Duce are going to do about it. If you have a bad case of political mulligrubs. If your "frans" have all gone back on you. If you are miserable from seasonal ailments and if you want to tickle away all your troubles in a jiffy, then cheer up. Not since the sovereign people slambasted the New Deal in the solar-plexus on Nov. 8th, have I been seized with such paroxysms of joy. All the kids in California have gone into raptures of delight and even hard pressed business men pouring over red ink now see in the blue bowl of our western sky gleams of hope in a rainbow of multi-colored tints. These varied seizures of emotion were caused by a press report that suddenly gambled before our joyous optics.

"Sacramento, Calif. — Senator Harry Westover today introduced a bill in the Senate designed to protect Santa Claus from commercialism."

In short, no longer shall the benign countenance of old St. Nick look at us from a dry goods or market advertisement, etc., and as they were, but we believe that democracy and capitalism hold greater possibilities than dictatorship. Who knows, perhaps the culprits will be hung by the neck till dead. True, some folks at first couldn't quite grasp the novel idea. They asked if Sacramento had an epidemic of New Deal yellow jaundice, if Potomac paresis had invaded our California forums, if Orange county's mouthpiece had succumbed to the mystic spell of the poppy's dreamy drug or whether someone had slipped a little bootleg bushhead into the senatorial demijohn.

However, it is said that as Orange county's silver-tongued sunbeam deposited his epoch-making bill in the hopper he drew himself up to his full majestic height of 6 feet 3 inches, vigorously smote his chest and belched forth in his best double octave range oration that he would champion the cause of Santa Claus and would protect his saintly reputation from sordid commercialism and if necessary he would have Xmas roll around once every month.

Harry, I'm a tellin' you that overnight you have become one of the intellectual heavyweights of the Southland. My boy, you are carving a niche for yourself in history for never in recorded time has any wearer of the toga so courageously rushed to the defense of old St. Nick. Not since Don Quixote sallied forth with his Dulcinea del Toboso has there been such a knightly spirit sans peer et sans reproche. You and Kriss Kringle "side by side and side by side" may yet become another imperishable Damon and Pythias, a consummate pattern, a perfect example of altruism. So put in your $15 a day time on that great bill. Don't worry about the dub business man who is crying for lower taxes and just forget the hundreds of thousands of poor devils who don't need a thing except jobs, food, shelter and clothing. Put in your time for Santa and no doubt your name will be emblazoned in Robt. Ripley's column of the curious.

However, Harry, we all realize that your statesman-like conception and your Westberian outburst have made you solid with dear old Santa and now we earnestly hope Harry, that you will whisper in the old fellow's ear and have him send some belated Xmas presents to a few of the boys who were overlooked during the recent Yuletide.

Tell him to bring F.D.R. some new fishing tackle and 16-billion dollars more of blank checks. Tell him to send Hank Wallace an oil painting depicting a burning wheat stack and also some sound recordings of the blood-curdling squeals of six million little pigs. See that Communist Cutie Sister Perkins gets one framed photo of her fair-haired favorite, Harry Bridges, with which to adorn her $10,000 bath room. When Santa gets to "Dear ol' Lunnun" have him leave a pair of velvet knee-pants for Joe Kennedy who in his charming hipbobs to royalty eclipses even romantic Robert the silver screen's slashing scintillator for signing sweeties. For that perambulating "Good Neighbor" ambassador John Roosevelt leave one quart of Mumm's Extra Dry to replace the one he doused over the head of the mayor of Cannes. For the Roosevelt children, engraved sets of round trip tickets to Reno.

For our Boy Scout statesman, Harry Sheppard, one bottle of aqua Pluto with a nipple attached. And make Frank Burke's fondest dream come true, a fat office for the 6000 simoleons leave a plunked into the campaign chest. For Gov. Olson, one heaping plate of Ham and Eggs. And be sure to have Santa remember the home town boys, especially that good little boy Sharpless Walker, who is so sad-eyed since the demise of the Journal. Send him a gross of lead pencils and a bottle of liniment for writers' cramps. Have him slip into Judge Mitchell's sock, one ten-gallon hat, one hobby horse and one soft-soap song for the April campaign. Have him surprise Plummer Bruns with a tin chief of police badge, a toy pistol and holster.

Tell him to open up his big heart and give till it hurts, and for Ernest Layton (of the oil Laytons) leave one ivy wreath for his political tomb. And Harry, tell your old pal that he needn't come with his reindeer if he'll just be sure to come with his rain of checks. Now Harry, get this straight. We don't want to shoot Santa Claus but we want you to stop shooting baloney and hot air. Yours for eradicating the bunk, FRED VOLLMER.

Editor, Register: I know not where Mr. Rockwell got his figures relative to National Income and Business Transactions which were so neatly twisted by Mr. Betts and Mr. Phillips in Jan. 14th Clearing House, but I do have some figures that can be taken as authentic. (I present these merely for the purpose of clearing up these figures in question, as I feel that Mr. Rockwell should be the one to answer these articles inasmuch as they were directed at him.)

The Dept. of Commerce reports the Natl. Income for 1929 as $1 billion dollars.

In 1932 the Director of Research and Statistics of the Federal Reserve Board states that the transactions for 1929 amounted to 1,200 billions of dollars.

The Dow-Jones statisticians of New York reported 1,165 billions of dollars of transactions in 1929. The U. S. Dept. of Commerce, Division of Economic Research, stated that the transactions by check in 1929 totaled 1,245 billions of dollars, and that 10% of all transactions are done by use of currency, thus bringing the total to 1,380 billions.

Mr. Phillips says that the statistical abstract shows that the Natl. Income for 1929 was 81% billion dollars.

A fair average should be: National income—81 billion dollars.

Total transactions—1,200 billion dollars.

Have at it, gentlemen.

Blood Clotting in Veins May Lead to Serious Infection

Surgical operations, as everyone knows, are sometimes followed by complications which may require months or years in which to assure complete recovery. One of the unusual complications which may cause a great deal of difficulty is called thrombophlebitis, an inflammation of the lining of the veins with clotting.

The seriousness of the condition naturally depends on the veins which are involved. Frequently only the surface veins in the legs are concerned.

If this condition does not spread, it is usually relieved by having the patient lie flat on the back for anywhere from a week to two weeks with the legs elevated and with the application of moist heat. If, however, the inflammation extends from the smaller veins of the leg into the larger ones and from these even to still larger ones up into the abdomen, the condition may threaten life itself.

There may be complete blockage of the return flow of the blood and occasionally the clot may become infected. Such a complication is of the greatest danger and should have immediate attention from the physician.

After the patient recovers from the preliminary disturbances and is able to get out of bed, he still may need a great deal of help in the way of medical attention. Inability of the blood to circulate properly through the limbs may be followed by ulcers in the skin, swelling of the tissues and associated pains.

One of the ways in which medicine prevents extension of the condition and gives opportunity for recovery is support to the tissues by the use of elastic bandages. There are now all sorts of elastic bandages available including some that are made of cloth mesh, others of mixed cloth and rubber as well as some of pure rubber.

It has been pointed out that the pure rubber may be hot, particularly in summer, and that women frequently object to the appearance of the pure rubber bandage. Moreover, the skin of some people is abnormally sensitive to rubber.

As long as the bandage supports the tissues adequately and prevents swelling so as to give the blood vessels opportunity to develop a suitable circulation, the exact material is not important. The person afflicted should use the material which he finds most comfortable, efficient, and desirable for himself.

Miss Jennie Douglas was the first woman to be employed by the U. S. government. In the spring of 1862, she was appointed to trim American currency. Her efficiency led to more appointments for women.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Biggest story in Washington today is not the political hemming and hawing on Capitol Hill or the rows between Old Deal Democrats and the White House, but the Justice Department's carefully laid plans to break the billion dollar monopoly of the movie industry.

The story also involves the secret political pressure being brought to get around Thurman Arnold, hard-hitting Assistant Attorney General, and squelch the movie-monopoly prosecution.

For the first time in history the movie moguls are worried. One of them, visiting in Washington the other day, admitted that for the first time they had found a man they could not influence. Usually, a few parties in Hollywood, featuring ravishing females, are enough to persuade a Justice Department official to drop an anti-trust prosecution.

So far, however, Thurman Arnold has been cold to feminine charm and deaf to arguments from Hollywood's high-priced legal battery.

Criminal Prosecution
Inside fact which the movie industry may not know is that Arnold came near bringing criminal charges against them, instead of merely civil action.

Wilful violation of the trust laws carries a criminal penalty. However, in digging through his files, Arnold found letters from his predecessors written to motion picture lawyers virtually promising exemption from anti-trust laws. This had been put across by Will Hays, former Postmaster General under Harding and chairman of the Republican National Committee.

In view of this correspondence, Arnold decided to bring only a civil suit. Even this, if successful, will mean a complete revamping of the entire film industry.

The Big Fight
What Arnold has charged is that the motion picture industry is controlled by eight big companies—Paramount, Loew's (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer), R. K. O., Warner Brothers, Twentieth Century-Fox, Columbia, Universal, and United Artists.

These eight, the Justice Department contends, control about 90 per cent of the movie business, operate 2,397 key theaters, have divided up territory among themselves, driven the independents out of business, have monopolized first-run pictures, and enforced block-booking so that a theater has to take all of the product of a company, including bad pictures as well as good.

The Justice Department is preparing to show that the owning of theaters by the big producers is one of the worst evils in the industries. Chief violators in this respect are Paramount, which owns 1,133 theaters, Loew's with 119, R. K. O. with 124, Warner's with 527, and Twentieth Century-Fox with 518.

The story of how these theaters were acquired, squeezing out independent owners by refusing to lease them films, is one of the most sordid stories the Justice Department has on record. It compares to the tactics of the big oil companies in squeezing out independent companies by refusing them the use of pipe lines.

One result of this squeeze play was the elimination of vaudeville. The big movie moguls found that dividends increased by forcing the theaters to buy an extra film instead of the vaudeville acts once popular throughout the country. Result: payrolls have been cut in every city in the country, dividends are up, and thousands of actors are on WPA rolls.

Another movie practice the Justice Department proposes scuttling is block-booking. This is the practice of requiring a theater to take all of a company's product or none. This means it must take 60 or more poor films during the year to get a handful of real features.

One important result of this has been the degeneration of the industry. The total output of a company is sure to be sold, so there is less incentive for producing A-1 pictures. Some of the franker minds in films today claim this is the reason for the present falling off of movie attendance.

Though Will Hays is supposed to be the czar of the motion picture industry, actually he holds no such power over Hollywood as Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis holds over the baseball industry.

Hays' contracts have run for only three and five years. Result is that he has to worry about renewals, so is run by the industry rather than running it. Hays missed his big chance some years ago when Paramount produced a salacious film to which Hays objected. He could have raised a big row, threatened to resign, would have won.

But he took it lying down, and ever since has been putty in the hands of the moguls.

Outsmarting Arnold
Tactics of the Hollywood boys toward Thurman Arnold so far are to stall for time. They figure that he is in office for two years only. After that they will have a new man to deal with. Arnold both amazes and disturbs them, simply because he can't be "reached."

So far their delay tactics have been highly successful. Arnold brought his suit on July 20. The movie lawyers requested an extension of time to November 1 in order to answer — an unusually long period. In November 10 they stalled again by asking the Justice Department for a bill of particulars.

Note—Under the new rules of federal practice, questions such as this are supposed to be decided immediately. Two months have now passed. Hollywood's stalling seems to be working.

"Mary!" cried the cooking teacher, "how on earth did you ever happen to make such a mess?" "Honest, teacher," said Mary, tearfully, "I was just following the recipe. It said to bring it to a boil and then beat it for 10 minutes, an—an' when I got back it was all burned up!"—Edmondson Journal.

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

International Meddling

By GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

The average citizen knows but little of political science and is not interested in the subject. The general ignorance of the public with reference to international relations between sovereign governments, as recognized by political science, makes it easy for public officials to violate the rules of international courtesy without incurring public resentment. The Administration seems to be so completely ignorant in this promotion of its plans and policies.

The type of government adopted by Germany, Italy and Japan is in no sense the concern of our government. These countries are acting absolutely within their rights in adopting any type of government they please. From the point of view of the accepted principles of political science, it is nothing less than unwarranted presumption and inexcusable meddling for representatives of this government to set themselves up as judges over the conduct and activities of other sovereigns with reference to their internal affairs.

The so-called "dictator" governments have observed strictly the principles as well as the rules of international comity in all their relations with our government. The insults certain representatives of our government have hurled across the seas have been altogether gratuitous.

The double role the Administration is playing in intermeddling with the internal affairs of a sovereign European country, and, at the same time, organizing American republics to repulse any intermeddling on this side of the water by European governments, is not deceiving anybody. It isn't at all strange that South American statesmen forced Secretary Hull to abandon the expressed policy of protecting American governments against intermeddling by European governments, and adopt the broad policy of protecting every sovereign American government against any intermeddling by another government.

The writer was actively and conspicuously anti-German in the World War, and is not a defender of German policies today.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Cynthia reveals she has married Timothy Benton, that it was not Barney she wanted, that Timothy is second best. After Janet tells Aunt Mary, newspapermen call.

CHAPTER IX

MARGY opened the door, and came back into the dining room, closely followed by Barney McKnight.

"I hope I'm the first of my tribe. I know mighty well I won't be the last," he began grimly. "Mrs. Cantrell, I'd like to help you and Janet handle this if you'll let me."

"You mean about—Cynthia?" Then you've heard?" Janet asked. "Every newspaper in town has the essentials—that they were married by the parson of that little all-night church off the square, with a special license a friend of Benton's wangled for them."

That, Janet thought, was one thing it had not occurred to Cynthia to tell her.

"What the papers are all going to want," Barney was going on, "is the heart-throb stuff—you know, the sobs of the heart-broken grandmother and the homicidal fury of the jilted lover—"

"Oh, Barney, I hope you're not going to be dragged into this," Janet cried.

"Forget it! The important thing is that you and your aunt mustn't be hounded by reporters all day. Now, I'm not asking anything exclusive for the News. My idea was that we might cook up a simple announcement of the wedding, signed by Mrs. Cantrell, to be passed out to all comers. . . . Just that, and nothing more, no matter how they howl and beat their chests."

"Young man," said Aunt Mary, "I think you have something there. I more and more regret that we're not to keep you in the family."

HE grinned impudently down at her from the arm of the chair on which he had perched.

"Well, you're free, white, and 21," he suggested. "You better make the most of your opportunities. I may not be in the market long."

"That Irish tongue of yours will get you into trouble yet, young man," Aunt Mary prophesied; but her eyes twinkled.

"Of course," Barney went on, "the papers will all play up the angle of Benton's two divorces; and we can't soft-peddle anything. Cynthia and Benton may choose to give out, or the gossip of their friends. But we may save you some annoyance."

Together they devised a brief, dignified paragraph: "Mrs. Mary Cantrell, of the Breckenridge Apartments, announces—"; and Barney made copies for all the city papers.

"Have Margy deal them out at the door," he advised, "just to show there's no ill feeling against the hard-worked press. Aside from that, Mrs. Cantrell has nothing more to say."

"She definitely has not," confirmed Aunt Mary grimly. Janet had to rush off at once. There were a myriad errands she had to attend to before her visit to Mr. Bryant's office. For one thing, she was to meet Lance at Stauffer's to select the twin rings they were going to use in the ceremony.

Lance did not see her when she first went into Stauffer's. His brows were bent over the morning paper. When she spoke to him, and he looked up, she was shocked by the pale anger of the face he turned toward her.

"So this was why she ditched McKnight," Lance said, thrusting the paper into Janet's hands. "Of course I knew all along that never would come to anything—but how could Cynthia do anything so cheap and common as this?"

"I've never heard that there was anything essentially cheap or common about getting married," Janet said, trying to laugh.

SHE glanced at the paper—a copy of the Bulletin, the most sensational of the morning sheets. . . . It was all there in glaring headlines, with pictures of Cynthia and Timothy Benton.

"You know what I mean," Lance said through tight lips. "She doesn't care a thing for that roughneck—not even so much as she did for Barney McKnight."

"Lance," Janet said, nettled as she always was by criticism of Cynthia, "I don't like you to speak that way about my cousin. Anyhow, how do you know?"

For a moment he stood staring at her as if startled by her question. Then his frown vanished, and he was his usual engaging self.

"Don't let's quarrel, Jan," he cried. "Of course what worries me about the whole thing is the annoyance it's bound to subject you to. And you must admit it is a little embarrassing just before our wedding."

After they had selected the rings, Janet hurried off on her dizzy round for the day—a fitting visit to Mr. Bryant's office, the luncheon at Sylvia Grant's house, a finger wave—squeezed in somehow—and then supper with Lance downtown.

When she put down her bag at the dressmaker's, she realized that she was still carrying the copy of the Bulletin which Lance had put into her hand. She folded it and put it with the rest of her things, thinking that she would read the story about Cynthia as soon as she had an opportunity. She might as well have some idea of the worst that was being said.

The gowns were going to be lovely. There was a sea-green evening gown with a bouffant skirt and a tiny jacket of sequins that Lance would love, a beautifully trim afternoon frock of velvet in deep blue, and a black dinner dress with touches of jade. The one Janet liked best was a knitted wool in shades of brown and orange and russet, pointed with green, which suggested an autumn wood. . . . And there were others.

SUDDENLY Janet wondered just why she had imagined she could need so many dresses. She wondered still more after she had asked for and been given a tentative estimate of the entire bill, so that she might have some definite idea how much money she would need before she talked to Mr. Bryant.

Mr. Bryant listened silently as she explained her financial dilemma to him, his eyes upon the blotter of his desk, upon which he was absently sketching while she talked. When she had finished, he sat silent for so long that Janet thought, he's trying to think of some polite way to tell me what a fool I am.

"Of course," she added defensively, "I'm just beginning to realize that I have been pretty extravagant lately, but after all, you just get married once—at least, she amended with a confident little smile, "I do. . . . And I'm going to be really careful after this, with the payments on the house to take care of—until Lance is on his feet, of course. . . . Oh, yes—and the money I'll need to help Aunt Mary a little."

It was not until she had finished, and Mr. Bryant lifted his eyes that she realized how very grave he was looking.

"Miss Janet," he said, "I am afraid I have some startling news for you. . . . I wonder if you ever read the financial pages of the newspapers?"

"Of course not," Janet said. Why should she? Her only interest in money was that it should be there when she needed it, as it always had been. Besides, she had seldom before spent up to the full amount of her income.

"Then you don't know that things have been jittery on Wall Street for the past week or so?" "Why—no," Janet said; then, trying to smile, "Is it important?"

Our Children
By Angelo Patri

USING THE BIBLE
"We agree," writes a mother interested in teaching children the good way of living, "that the Bible is invaluable in child education, but some of us here would like to have a few words on how to use it."

I agree that it is not easy to use the Bible intelligently in the education of children, but it is not really difficult when one thinks it over. I like to begin with the old stories. Children love the story of the Creation, the Garden, the naming of the animals. That story can be told over and over again; it has to be, until there dawns an appreciation of the personal relationship of the individual child to the Creator.

The story of Moses is fascinating, the wandering in the wilderness, the Ten Commandments. I would teach all children those commandments as a guide for life.

Joseph and his Brethren, Esther, Daniel. Daniel is a boy's hero and his life pattern a fine one for them. The Psalms are to be searched for comforting verses. I like the First Psalm, the Twenty-third, the Ninety-first; and I would coax, cajole, drive and wheedle children into learning them for use in the day of tribulation.

During the recent flood in New England a lone woman faced the destruction of her farm, her all. Friends called her saying, "Leave the house and come up here to safety." But she clung to her home. As the water rose, creeping ever nearer her doorstep, she groaned, "God, you couldn't let this happen to me." And she heard very distinctly, "It shall not come nigh thy dwelling." A verse out of her childhood had spoken, and she was content. The flood did not touch her. In the moment of distress a Bible verse sustained her.

The stories of the New Testament are fine. Children love the Parables. Every one of them holds treasure for children and old age. I would try to have children learn the Fifth chapter of Matthew, the Sermon on the Mount, and try, harder, to have them live by it. The Bible is a history of the human race; its weakness and wickedness, its strength, courage, faith, nobleness, are all there, written in beautiful language. The Bible is literature. It contains great poetry. It holds challenge and inspiration for the human soul. One finds there what one needs, and one may overlook what he does not need without loss.

The begats are of interest only to Bible scholars. They are of no interest to children, or to most of our grown people. There are chapters and verses of interest only to specialists of one sort or another. They, too, can be skipped.

without loss. What we need from the Bible is its strong drive to righteousness, its clear direction to walk in the way of Truth and Beauty.

The stories of the Bible, versions that select what children can read easily, and profit by directly, are easy to get, and easy to use. Teachers and parents who want to use the Bible can well begin with such helps. It is only the matured, trained reader who can read straight through the Bible with profit. Children need selected bits, the dramatic stories, the musical Psalms and the Parables, first. Give them a taste of good reading and they will go the rest of the way themselves.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT RACING BY GWYNNE

And if racing history repeats, which it often does, Our Matt, unbeaten at Santa Anita in two starts, will be up among the champions.

The race, incidentally, served as a prep for several of the fillies in Saturday's Santa Susanna Stakes. Galley Slave, making her return to silks after almost a year's absence, showed all her blazing early speed, but was clearly in need of the race. The same applies to Cienicia, Smart Crack and Alice Faye.

HERE AND THERE: Chief Gamble will be fired for his bad knees and will be away from the races for about six months.

The stewards rescinded the 15-day suspension against Jockey Alfred Shelhamer. He had been held to blame for shutting off Olimpo, but the pictures showed that he wasn't near the scene of the crime. . . . Beti-Bat, the highly regarded Argentine in the J. F. Waters barn, isn't out of competition for the winter. He was blistered several days ago, and probably will go postward later in the season. . . . Cosum, surprise winner of the San Pascual, will get a month vacation, and then be drilled intensively for the Santa Anita, according to present training plans. . . . Flying Scot worked seven eighths in 1:25 2/5 yesterday and goes Saturday when "Jack" Whitely gets in town. . . . Surprising to note that not a single racing official attended the funeral of Jockey Willie Ray. . . . The Greentree Stable sold in the Shade to Louis Floros at private terms, and fired Gentle Savage. . . . W. T. Westrope has taken over the training of the Harold White horses. . . . Jockey Jack Westrope is recovering nicely from his appendectomy. . . . Osabaw, the reformed jumper, is about two weeks away from a race. . . . George Woolf will do 115 pounds to ride Sweet Patrice for the Louis B. Mayer stable Saturday. . . . White Sand is a running mare yesterday and the H. G. Bedwell forces must have "got well," as turf parlance puts it.

Young Violinist Plays for Lions

COSTA MESA, Jan. 18.—Muriel Hatch, young Costa Mesa violinist, and Dorothy Stamp, accompanist, presented a program for the Tuesday noon dinner session of the Costa Mesa-Newport Harbor Lions club, held at Bay Shore cafe. Miss Ruth Karges, faculty member of the Costa Mesa school, accompanied Miss Hatch, artist piano of Vladimir Lenski at the piano. Henry Abrams, superintendent of the Costa Mesa schools, was program chairman.

Report of the county council meeting Monday night at Laguna Beach was given by Heinz Kaiser. Dr. C. G. Huston thanked the group for flowers sent during a recent illness.

A local speaker was announced for next week by general program chairman, Theodore Robins.

Junior Guild Of Church Meets

BREA, Jan. 18.—More than 25 were present at the meeting of the monthly session of the Junior Guild of the Congregational church Monday at which time the group enjoyed a group of talking moving pictures. The three witnessed were Air Spun Loveliness, Franchise in Symphony and Itchy-Scratchy. They were presented by Harold Brezet of the Standard Films Incorporated. Mrs. Howard Robinson presided as program chairman.

The program was preceded by a pot luck dinner. Mrs. Rosemary Bennett, Mrs. Florence Barnes and Miss Ethel Mae Beckman acted as hostesses.

It was announced that Mrs. A. J. Barnes would review one of the recent play successes at the next meeting. Miss Marnie Culp, Mrs. Arthur Bibb and Miss Ruth Livingston were named on the committee in charge.

News Behind the News

He has let it be known he hopes to go to the Caribbean February 18 to watch the naval maneuvers, a trip which would require about two weeks. He has also said he wants to go to Warm Springs for another two weeks.

From an official announcement by the $50,000 a year interior department publicity section January 15:

"It is thrilling to watch a flock of Canada geese, etc. . . . It is amusing to listen to the twittering and whistling noises of a flock of ducks. . . . It is amazing to see a muskrat build. . . . It is breathtaking to paddle around a bend. . . . It is tempting to pass beneath a tree. . . . It is pitiful to hear the squeaks and squeals of the lesser mammals. . . . It is beautiful to hear a mocking bird. . . . It is terrifying. . . ."

It is nauseating to see the taxpayers' money roll out in the preparation and circulation of such stuff, but an announcement to that effect has not yet been made.

Nuggets: Bulk of communications opposing Felix Frankfurter for the supreme court came from the middle west. . . . Colleagues are now calling Mr. Garner "Cactus Jack Brummel." He has a new suit, a light grey one, which glows. . . . The senate crowd is figuring to accept the house relief cut. . . . Within the last few weeks Russia has adopted a system of issuing a booklet like a passport to its workers, setting forth their working records. Idea is to cut down migration of workers; keep closer tab on their efficiency, if any. . . .

Earl Browder, secretary of the Communist party has sent each congressman a denunciation of the Dies committee—which is just about all Chairman Dies needed to get a new appropriation for continuing his investigation of Browder. . . .

LATE NEWS OF ORANGE AND VICINITY

LARGEST TELESCOPE TOPIC OF ADDRESS

ORANGE, Jan. 17.—Of unusual interest was the talk given last night at the Orange Men's club at Trinity church parish hall when the speaker was Bruce Rule, of the California Institute of Technology of Pasadena and chief electrical engineer for the world's largest telescope now being installed at Mt. Palomar.

Earl Campbell was program chairman and he was assisted in securing the speaker by M. M. Fishback. A musical program was given when Charles Armstrong with Janice Winget as accompanist sang "Old Man River," "The Cornish Floral Dance" and "For You Alone."

The speaker stated that the site for the telescope, six miles from San Diego, was made after five years search for a situation which would give the greatest number of seeing hours in the year, with uniform atmosphere, and a place free from atmospheric interference caused by human habitation. The date of the mounting was named as 1940.

"A thing like this seems like a plaything when you look at it in this manner," the scientist said, "but its practical aspects are enormous. For instance, astronomical observations led to the discovery of helium and is responsible for a great many of our modern industry."

"Because of the high cost of operation, the observatory will be regulated so as to prevent as much as one idle moment, and every bit of time will be carefully planned. Only an observer and one assistant will be required to operate the telescope. The entire program will be under the direction of an observatory council headed by Dr. Max Mason, noted astronomer."

In conclusion, the scientist promised that a gallery with accommodations is planned, and overnight facilities are available at the resort three or four miles away. Parking accommodations have already been provided, but there is nothing much to see at present, he said. The most interesting sights at present are the preparations at Pasadena.
